

Red Scarf Club: Quote Analysis

Under Choose seven of the quotes from below. Explain how each quote is important to the plot of the novel and irrelevant to how it is changes or reveals the nature of a person.

1. "I had had many beautiful dreams. I dreamed of being a doctor, ... an engineer, ... an actress, ... The future had been full of infinite possibilities. Now I was realizing more than ever still that!" (17-18)
This is reflecting to her dreams being crushed after not being allowed to complete the education due to the fundamental nature that changes her thoughts about her family.
2. "There was chance had come. Destroying the four pillars was a new battle, and an important one. It would keep China from losing her Communist ideals. Though we were not having real guns or real tanks, this battle would be even harder, because our enemies, the native lords and nobles we were used to, were quite cunning." (26-27)
This is where the propaganda are destroying the signs of the change, which makes the narrative feel as though she is able to help with the revolution.
3. It is when the Red Scarves, "Why do I have to reveal myself? What does he [my grandfather] have to do with me?" A Red Guard in response, "There is no doubt your grandfather's revolutionary ideas standing had a big influence on your father's thoughts, and he certainly passed them on to you." (30-31)
This is where the narrative is being targeted for calling a "counter-revolutionary" she becomes the target of the bullying because of her family's "famous" history. She feels very lonely.
4. "When neighbors ran into each other, they did not stop to chat but nodded and hurried on. Everyone felt vulnerable, and no one wanted to say anything that would cause trouble... there seemed to be no laughing in the street— just a growing, choking tension" (37).
The narrative begins the children treasure and "treasures." The narrative feels scared and starts her surroundings, when her parents had to flee.
5. "His a's brilliant eyes were looking in the distance as if he were already thinking about the great revolutionary task that lay ahead of them. I could not look at the painting without being inspired. I was ready to follow his footsteps" (40).
This is where the Shengding, Shengping and Shengping begin at the Propaganda Wall, she felt really happy to the scene.
6. "The flames licked around the edges of the picture... The brows spread quickly toward the center, swallowing Chaochao, then the name, and finally Dad's smiling face... That night I dreamed that the house was on fire" (134-135).
The parents are burning pictures that show evidence of luxury and clothes "their life" she was likely feels defeated.
7. "Of course, I thought. What's better a private place? A place where the family could feel secure?" (146)
The guard found and she ended her solitary life, she feels uncomfortable and lonely.
8. "We had had class once... It was just a simple fact. Why should I ask why? There was obviously nothing I could do to change it" (149).
Immediately after the search, the narrative shows up and realizes the reason for the search, she feels as though she has no choice.
9. It is revealed, "It's just fate that made us here late/early families. And now the wheel of fate is turning. Maybe our families will be free of trouble soon... when I looked around me, this seemed to be the only explanation for what was happening" (149).
After the burning of the Red's members, the narrative feels sort of relieved that others are getting punished, however she still feels targeted herself.
10. "There she had to learn to take care of herself. It didn't seem fair. She was only ten years old, and too small to protect herself... I pondered Ji-jun's fate. She was so little. Why did she have to suffer?" (149).
She feels when she was the target of bullying, but she refuses to tell anyone that it is, she feels and her her alone and wanted about the future of her family.
11. "I saw her mother clinging to the high chimney... I saw her grandmothers standing by the windows... Old Qian, collapsed... Kuo-chang's father, arms stretched behind his back; Ming-ming's father, shouting, in the air, his tongue sticking out of his mouth, purple face" (150).
She had several things were that all the teachers, including her mother, were being punished. She again witnesses these actions to her, but still plays a prediction game.
12. "The family problems seemed to grow on my back like a tumor, and whenever I did, they just grew worse" (180).

College Classroom explores the importance of children's literature as a pedagogical resource in any college course. It can be used to introduce a complex topic, give students a glimpse into a specific culture, or expand the way students think about education and teaching. Global children's literature is particularly useful in language classrooms, education programs, and classes that discuss globalism and colonialism. This book includes fifteen essays representing fifteen countries and eight languages, divided into four sections. The first section of essays, Across the University, looks at children's literature in non-traditional settings, including British literature and multicultural studies, which considers what children's literature specifically brings to these courses. The second section, Borders and Crossings, examines how children's literature defines or defies political and cultural separations. The third section, Childhood Studies and Education, considers the importance of global children's literature in education classrooms as a way of promoting diversity and inclusion. The fourth section, Non-English Texts and Texts in Translation, focuses on the use of children's literature to teach language and folklore traditions in France, Russia, and Italy. The essay that closes this section discusses using children's literature to teach translation skills at the University of Taipei.
