

REFLECTIVE ESSAY

Public speaking has always been a daunting task for me. As an introverted person, I tend to shy away from large crowds and prefer to keep to myself. However, in my professional life, I have had to face my fear of public speaking and learn to communicate effectively with others. In this reflective essay, I will discuss my experience with public speaking, the challenges I faced, and the lessons I learned.

My first experience with public speaking was in college when I was asked to give a presentation in front of my class. I remember feeling nervous and anxious, worrying about forgetting my lines and making a fool of myself. However, as I practiced my presentation and received feedback from my classmates, I began to feel more confident in my ability to communicate effectively. This experience taught me the importance of preparation and practice in public speaking, and I realized that the more I practiced, the more comfortable I became.

As I entered the workforce, I was required to give presentations to colleagues, clients, and stakeholders. This was a challenging experience for me as I had to speak in front of people who held different levels of expertise and had different expectations. I found it difficult to strike a balance between presenting technical information and keeping my audience engaged.

However, I learned that the key to effective communication is to know your audience and tailor your message to their needs. By doing so, I was able to gain their trust and establish myself as a credible source of information.

Another challenge I faced was managing my nerves and anxiety during public speaking. I found that deep breathing exercises and visualization techniques helped me to calm my nerves and focus on the task at hand. I also learned to embrace my nervous energy and channel it into positive energy, which helped me to connect with my audience and convey my message with confidence.

In conclusion, my experience with public speaking has been a journey of self-discovery and growth. Through trial and error, I have learned that effective communication is a skill that can be honed through practice and preparation. I have also learned the importance of knowing your audience, managing nerves and anxiety, and embracing your unique style of communication. While public speaking may still be a challenge for me, I now feel more equipped to handle it and look forward to the opportunities it presents for personal and professional growth.

Reflection-in-Motion Jaclyn Fiscus-Cannaday,2025-05-23 Reflection in Motion considers how reflective practice is embedded in daily course happenings centering the experiences of students and teachers in Minority Serving Institutions to amplify underrepresented viewpoints about how reflection works in the writing classroom Jaclyn Fiscus Cannaday examines how its availability is subject to teacher student power dynamics the literacies welcomed or not in the class the past and present pedagogies that students are engaging with and attending to and the interactions among humans materials and emotions within the rhetorical context She adopts an intersectional feminist perspective for an inclusive view of how practitioners name identify and practice reflection in the everyday moments of writing classrooms Fiscus Cannaday invokes a Black feminist qualitative research method that Venus Evans Winters calls a mosaic When researchers collect both traditional and nontraditional texts to create a full view of students and teachers interviews at three institutions a Hispanic Serving Institution a Historically Black College and University and an Asian American Native American Pacific Islander Serving Institution she finds that practitioners often build definitions from past experiences with reflection and then use those definitions as terministic screens to decide if an activity can be named identified and practiced as reflection These definitions hold different rhetorical effects reflection for introspection reflection for learning reflection for mindfulness and reflection for awareness Reflection is used for these different rhetorical effects but because classrooms so often focus on the Westernized view and its emphasis on growth reflection has the underused and undertheorized potential rhetorical effect of helping students investigate their identities and positionalities acknowledge deep rooted ideologies and consider new perspectives so they can better work across difference Reflection in Motion will inspire teachers and writing program administrators to listen to how students define and practice reflection and why thus making room for more capacious definitions of reflection and student centered practices of what reflection can do and be Wise Social Studies in an Age of High-Stakes Testing Elizabeth Anne Yeager,O. L. Davis,2005-08-01 The chapters in this volume illustrate how teachers are bringing creativity higher order thinking and meaningful learning activities into particular school settings

despite pressures of standards and testing We chose the word wise for the title of this book and we use it frequently to describe the pedagogical practices we have identified The words powerful and ambitious are used as well The larger point as Keith C Barton makes in his chapter is that there is no necessary connection between content standards and high stakes tests on the one hand and lowlevel rote instruction on the other He reminds us as Thornton 1991 and Wiggins 1987 previously have argued that teachers play a crucial role in mediating educational policy and their intentions and interpretations have at least as much influence on classroom practice as does the content of standards and highstakes tests Barton also asserts that this makes it all the more crucial to identify the wisdom of practice that enables teachers to engage students in powerful educational experiences
