Multiple Alterities Elie Podeh, Samira Alayan, 2017-12-18 This book highlights and examines the role of the textbook in legitimising established political and social orders It analyses the way in which the other is presented in school textbooks focusing on a number of countries in the Middle East and North Africa MENA region and argues that the role of textbooks in developing and maintaining a national identity should be afforded greater critical attention Textbooks can help form national identities by developing a society's collective memory this might involve a historical narrative which may be self contradictory or even fabricated to a certain extent including myths symbols and collective memories that divide us from them and ultimately resulting a dichotomy between the Self and the Other As well as addressing a range of theoretical questions relating to the study of textbooks generally the volume also covers a broad spectrum of Middle Eastern states and societies with contributions from Turkey Iran Egypt Cyprus Lebanon Iraq Kurdistan Jordan Morocco Tunisia Israel and Palestine It will be essential reading for researchers and students working in the fields of Education Sociology and History particularly those with an interest in national identities in the MENA region

Teaching Critically about Lewis and Clark Alison Schmitke, Leilani Sabzalian, Jeff Edmundson, 2020 The Lewis and Clark Corps of Discovery is often presented as an exciting adventure story of discovery friendship patriotism However when viewed through a non colonial lens this same period in U S History can be understood quite differently In BEYOND ADVENTURE the authors provide a conceptual framework ready to use lesson plans and teaching resources to address oversimplified versions of the Lewis and Clark expedition

According to the Book Gilbert A. Valverde, Leonard J. Bianchi, Richard G. Wolfe, W.H. Schmidt, Richard T. Houang, 2012-10-08 How are curriculum policies translated into opportunities to learn in the classroom According to the Book presents findings from the largest cross national study of textbooks carried out to date the curriculum analysis of the 1995 Third International Mathematics and Science Study TIMSS This study included a detailed page by page inventory of the mathematics and science content pedagogy and other characteristics collected from hundreds of textbooks in over forty countries Drawing on these data the authors investigate the rhetorical and pedagogical features of textbooks to understand how they promote and constrain educational opportunities They investigate how textbooks are constructed and how they structure diverse elements into prescriptions for teaching practice The authors break new ground in understanding textbooks in terms of different educational opportunities that they make possible The book examines policy implications from these new understandings In particular conclusions are offered regarding the role of textbooks in curriculum driven educational reform in light of their role as promoters of qualitatively distinct educational opportunities

The Technology of Text David H. Jonassen, 1982 Abstract Techniques for designing and developing text materials are described and elaborated for text development technologists This book focuses on 2 broad categories of techniques for structuring textual materials termed implicit e g discourse analysis elaboration theory and explicit e g algorithms tables diagrams techniques Implicit techniques are concerned with the structure of the content and sequencing of the message explicit techniques display the structure of the message The 4 sections of the book address implicit communication techniques explicit textual design specific design problems and how individuals differentially interact with text materials ranging from printed matter to television projections
