Answer the following questions:

- 1.1 Describe the hydrologic cycle, components, and processes. The hydrologic cycle is a continuous process that moves water around the planet. It is driven by the sun, which causes evaporation of water from the surface. This water then condenses into clouds, which eventually lead to precipitation. Precipitation can fall as rain or snow, and it can infiltrate the ground to become groundwater. Groundwater can then flow back to the surface through springs or discharge into bodies of water.
- 1.2 Define erosion, and the following erosion parts: head, channel, meander, oxbow lake, and floodplain. Erosion is the process of wearing away the Earth's surface. It is caused by the movement of water, wind, and ice. The parts of erosion are: head (the beginning of a river), channel (the path of a river), meander (a bend in a river), oxbow lake (a body of water that has been cut off from a river), and floodplain (the flat area around a river).
- 1.3 Define drainage basin and divide. A drainage basin is the area of land that drains water into a single body of water. A divide is the high ground that separates two drainage basins.
- 1.4 Define drainage patterns: dendritic and trellis. Dendritic drainage patterns are characterized by a main channel with smaller tributaries joining it at right angles. Trellis drainage patterns are characterized by a main channel with smaller tributaries joining it at right angles.
- 1.5 Describe how erosion, transportation, and deposition are affected by grain size and velocity. Erosion is the process of wearing away the Earth's surface. Transportation is the process of moving material from one place to another. Deposition is the process of dropping material in a new location. Grain size and velocity affect all three processes.
- 1.6 Define alluvium. Alluvium is sediment that has been deposited by a river or stream.
- 1.7 Describe how a river is controlled by its watershed, topography, and climate. A river is controlled by its watershed (the area of land that drains into it), its topography (the shape of the land), and its climate (the weather conditions).
- 1.8 Describe the mechanisms of erosion: hydraulic action, abrasion, solution, and deflation. Hydraulic action is the process of water breaking apart rocks. Abrasion is the process of rocks rubbing against each other. Solution is the process of rocks dissolving in water. Deflation is the process of wind blowing away loose soil.
- 1.9 Define the different types of sediment: clastic, organic, and biogenic. Clastic sediment is made of small pieces of rock. Organic sediment is made of the remains of plants and animals. Biogenic sediment is made of the remains of plants and animals.
