6-3 Conditions for Parallelograms

You can use the following conditions to determine whether a quadrilateral such as  $PQRS$  is a parallelogram.

| Conditions for Parallelograms                                                                                                     |  |                                                                                                           |  |
|                                                  |  |                         |  |
| $\overline{QR} \parallel \overline{PS}$$\overline{PQ} \parallel \overline{RS}$                                                |  | $\overline{QR} \cong \overline{PS}$$\overline{PQ} \cong \overline{RS}$                                |  |
| If one pair of opposite sides is <math>\parallel</math> and <math>\cong</math>, then <math>PQRS</math> is a parallelogram. |  | If both pairs of opposite sides are <math>\cong</math>, then <math>PQRS</math> is a parallelogram. |  |
|                                                  |  |                         |  |
| If both pairs of opposite angles are <math>\cong</math>, then <math>PQRS</math> is a parallelogram.                        |  | If the diagonals bisect each other, then <math>PQRS</math> is a parallelogram.                     |  |

A quadrilateral is also a parallelogram if one of the angles is supplementary to both of its consecutive angles.

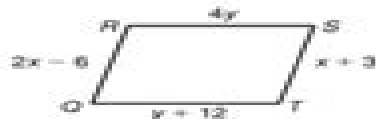

$65^\circ + 115^\circ = 180^\circ$ , so  $\angle A$  is supplementary to  $\angle B$  and  $\angle D$ .

Therefore,  $ABCD$  is a parallelogram.

Show that each quadrilateral is a parallelogram for the given values. Explain.
