Causality and Containment in Seventeenth-Century Chinese Fiction McMahon,2023-07-31 A number of features characterize late Ming vernacular fiction as part of the general cultural expansion of that period These features centrally include the exposition of sexual transgression and the function of containment by which is meant the ideology of the control of desires The late Ming writers are studiously devoted to illustrating minute obscene or erotic details that belie the decorum of the orthodox surface However this subversiveness of detail decreases in intensity from the late Ming to the early Qing when values of containment are reinvoked Related topics are the theme of causality and its role in the story's mapping of the logic of adultery adultery as an emblem of the woman's escape from containment and the use of the narrative topos of the gap in the wall as a locus of sexual transgression
