How to Write an APA Style Research Paper

An APA-style paper includes the following sections: title page, abstract, introduction, method, results, discussion, and references. Your paper may also include one or more tables and/or figures. Different types of information about your study are addressed in each of the sections, as described below.

General formatting rules are as follows:

Do not put page breaks in between the introduction, method, results, and discussion sections.

The title page, abstract, references, table(s), and figure(s) should be on their own pages.

The entire paper should be written in the past tense, in a 12-point font, double-spaced, and with one-inch margins all around.

Title page (see sample on p. 41 of APA manual)

- Title should be between 10-12 words and should reflect content of paper (e.g., IV and DV).

- Title, your name, and Hamilton College are all double-spaced (no extra spaces)

- Create a page header using the "View header" function in MS Word. On the title page, the header should include the following:

Flush left: Running head: THE RUNNING HEAD SHOULD BE IN ALL CAPITAL LETTERS. The running head is a short title that appears at the top of pages of published articles. It should not exceed 50 characters, including punctuation and spacing. (Note: on the title page, you actually write the words "Running head," but these words do not appear on subsequent pages; just the actual running head does. If you make a section break between the title page and the rest of the paper you can make the header different for those two parts of the manuscript).

Flush right, on same line: page number. Use the toolbox to insert a page number, so it will automatically number each page.

Abstract (labeled, centered, not bold)

No more than 120 words, one paragraph, block format (i.e., don't indent), double-spaced.

- State topic, preferably in one sentence. Provide overview of method, results, and discussion.

Introduction (Do not label as "Introduction." Title of paper goes at the top of the page – not bold)

The introduction of an APA-style paper is the most difficult to write. A good introduction will summarize, integrate, and critically evaluate the empirical knowledge in the relevant area(s) in a way that sets the stage for your study and why you conducted it. The introduction starts out broad (but not too broad!) and gets more focused toward the end. Here are some guidelines for constructing a good introduction:

Don't put your readers to sleep by beginning your paper with the time-worn sentence, "Past research has shown (blah blah blah)" They'll be snoring within a paragraph! Try to draw your reader in by saying something interesting or thought-provoking right off the bat. Take a look at articles you've read. Which ones captured your attention right away? How did the authors accomplish this task? Which ones didn't? Why not? See if you can use articles you liked as a model. One way to begin (but not the only way) is to provide an example or anecdote illustrative of your topic area.
