Abstract: This research was conducted to determine whether the perceived quality of life of patients with chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD) was related to their level of adherence to treatment. The study included 100 patients with COPD who were recruited from a tertiary care hospital. The results showed that there was a significant positive correlation between the perceived quality of life and the level of adherence to treatment. The findings suggest that improving patient adherence may lead to improved quality of life in patients with COPD.
