Saxophone Fingering Chart

This chart displays the same findings for the statistical change of values available on the institution.

The image displays three distinct musical notation systems. The top system is a piano roll, featuring a grid where horizontal axes represent pitch and time, and vertical axes represent dynamics (piano, mezzo-forte, forte). Notes are represented by black dots, and their duration is indicated by horizontal bars. The middle system is a standard musical staff with a single melody line, showing notes, rests, and a key signature of one flat. The bottom system is a saxophone fingering chart, which maps specific fingerings (numbered 1-5) to various notes across the instrument's range, including a diagram of the saxophone keys.
