Teaching Students to Think Like Scientists Maria C. Grant, Douglas Fisher, 2013-12-11 It is essential that students learn to examine review and evaluate knowledge and ideas through a process of scientific investigation and argumentation Using these instructional methods and lesson scenarios teachers of all disciplines will gain the tools needed to offer students a richer lasting understanding of science its concepts and its place in their lives and the global community Graphic Organizers Nicholas Whitaker, 2008 EdPsych Modules Cheryl Cisero Durwin, Marla Reese-Weber, 2019-12-04 EdPsych Modules uses an innovative modular approach and case studies based on real life classroom situations to address the challenge of effectively connecting theory and research to practice Succinct stand alone modules are organized into themed units and offer instructors the flexibility to tailor the book s contents to the needs of their course The units begin with a set of case studies written for early childhood elementary middle and secondary classrooms providing students with direct insight into the dynamics influencing the future students they plan to teach All 25 modules highlight diversity emphasizing how psychological factors adapt and change based on external influences such as sex gender race language disability status and socioeconomic background The Fourth Edition includes over three hundred new references across all 25 modules and expanded coverage of diversity in new diversity related research This title is accompanied by a complete teaching and learning package Monatshefte Für Deutschen Unterricht ,1928 Classroom Language Jill Richards, 2012 The acquisition and use of language are just as vital to children s learning when the newer classroom methods are being employed as ever they were when the more traditional approaches were being used Child centred learning has increasingly influenced language use and language work in the classroom mainly in the primary sector but also in the teaching of English and indirectly in the teaching of other subject areas including the sciences In this volume the author focuses mainly on the language of subject learning in the secondary schools She looks critically at some current notions concerned with language and learning and examines their translation into classroom practice She then develops a picture of the language demands made by other subject areas using collected language material and finally in the light of this evidence she attempts to identify the range of language in everyday use in schools goes on to draw conclusions and then makes recommendations Annual Review of Anthropology ,1972 Annual compilation of critical articles from all areas of the discipline of anthropology
