Researchers recently announced the earth could actually withstand up to 200,000 times the current population. They arrived at this figure by calculating the amount of heat a human body emits, and only at 1.3 million billion would the earth be too hot to be habitable. And though it would feel like being in a can of sardines if that figure were ever reached, the earth is capable of comfortably sustaining a population several times the current 6.5 billion.

In fact, fertility is actually on the decline worldwide. Though population has grown, the rate of growth has fallen sharply. Twenty years ago, the UN projected that population would reach 11.16 billion in 2050, today they say it will reach only 9.37 billion. Moreover, human population will stabilize at about 11.5 billion. While this figure is almost twice the current one, it is hardly claustrophobic.

True, the demands on resources are heavy even now, but this is more due to the manner in which these resources are being used. In fact, figures show that a bigger population does not amount to greater consumption. Over 20% of the world's people in the highest-income countries account for 86% of total private consumption expenditure expenditure—the poorest 20% a tiny 1.3%. With just 5% of the world's population, the US consumes about 40 % of the world's resources. Would you say the US is overpopulated ?

Concerns on scarcity of food are equally baseless. In fact, global food production has actually kept up with population growth.

Countering New(est) Terrorism Bruce Oliver Newsome,James W. Stewart,2017-12-15 How should we analyze and assess new terrorist behaviors What are the particular risks and challenges from new terrorism Should we negotiate with terrorists and if so how When should we use force against terrorists Countering New est Terrorism Hostage Taking Kidnapping and Active Violence Assessing Negotiating and Assaulting improves our knowledge of new terrorist behaviors and our skills in responding to such attacks The term new terrorism has been in circulation since the late 90 s This book analyzes the newest terrorism that has emerged in recent years characterized by increased hostage taking kidnapping and active violence and develops best practices for countering these emerging threats Along the way it challenges fashionable wishful thinking that all terrorists are open to rational negotiation or de radicalization that military responses always reflect badly on the official side and that terrorists are not constrained by their own doctrines The new terrorists are dramatically more ideological murderous and suicidal They are generally less reconcilable less trusting of official negotiators less likely to release detainees and more likely to kill detainees They are less likely to demand ransoms yet more likely to release hostages in cases in which they do demand ransom They are more informed about the official side s policies tactics techniques and procedures They are more likely to use new information and communication technologies against responding agencies and officials They are more capable fighters they kill more people despite deploying fewer fighters per hostage Most disturbing is the fact that they take advantage of free er societies to access easier targets Features Includes evidence based definitions and descriptions of political religious Jihadi and new terrorism Presents the first large n comparison of old and new terrorism using an original extension of the Global Terrorism Database GTD with added codes for each of 10 735 hostage crises and more than 500 000 data points from 1970 through 2016 Details a further extension of the GTD covering all terrorist events from 2004 through 2016 roughly 5 million data points Offers prescriptive advice and visual decision trees on how to negotiate crises assess the risk of terrorism and how and when to assault terrorists Reviews official practices interviews with experienced officials and real world simulations of recent terrorist events and attacks Countering New est Terrorism will be of interest to researchers students enrolled in terrorism and Homeland Security programs crisis negotiators and police security intelligence and military authorities tasked with counterterrorism and anti terrorism efforts
