

THE ROAD STUDY GUIDE

Term 1 2012

"By day the banished sun circles the earth like a grieving mother with a lamp."

Described as the "American master", Cormac McCarthy is one of the world's greatest living novelists. His style is characterised by his philosophical pessimism, thin plots, reductive sentences and restrained vocabulary.

"Cormac McCarthy's tenth novel, The Road, is his most harrowing yet deeply personal work. Some unnamed catastrophe has scourged the world to a burnt-out cinder, inhabited by the last remnants of humankind. The sky is perpetually shrouded by dust and toxic particulates; the seasons are merely varied intensities of cold and dampness. Bands of cannibals roam the roads and inhabit what few dwellings remain intact in the woods."

*The Road is a frightening,
profound tale that
drags us into places
we don't want to go,
forces us to think
about questions we don't want to ask.*

Ron Charles,
The Washington Post

"A father and his son walk alone through burned America. Nothing moves in the ravaged landscape save the ash on the wind. It is cold enough to crack stones, and when the snow falls it is gray. The sky is dark. Their destination is the coast, although they don't know what, if anything, awaits them there. They have nothing; just a pistol to defend themselves against the lawless bands that stalk the road, the clothes they are wearing, a cart of scavenged food--and each other."

The Road is the profoundly moving story of a journey. It boldly imagines a future in which no hope remains, but in which the father and his son, "each the other's world entire," are sustained by love. Awesome in the totality of its vision, it is an unflinching meditation on the worst and the best that we are capable of: ultimate destructiveness, desperate tenacity, and the tenderness that keeps two people alive in the face of total devastation. The novel was awarded the 2007 Pulitzer Prize for Fiction and the James Tait Black Memorial Prize for Fiction in 2006. Numbers: An Introduction and Study Guide Eryl W. Davies, 2017-01-12 Davies outlines the composition and date of Numbers and the various attempts that have been made to establish a coherent and meaningful structure in its arrangement. Davies also shows how the application of reader response criticism, feminist criticism, and postcolonial criticism have contributed to our understanding of selected passages in the book. Addressing theological issues, Davies considers three themes that occupy much of the content of Numbers: namely, land, purity and holiness, and rebellion. The concluding chapter considers the contentious issue of the historicity of the book of Numbers in the light of recent discussions concerning the historical value of the Old Testament. Davies shows how some of the issues Numbers raises—war, disease, survival, hunger, race relations—are among the perennial problems faced by nations across the centuries and across cultures. While individual passages within Numbers may reflect a questionable sense of morality, Davies demonstrates that the book, when viewed in its totality, encompasses a number of important theological themes which recur throughout the Old Testament: the interplay of forgiveness and judgment and of sin and punishment, and the need to trust in the power of God rather than human might.

SCM Studyguide: Books of the New Testament Ian Boxall, 2013-01-26 SCM Study Guide: New Testament Books, together with its companion volume on New Testament Interpretation, offers an up-to-date, accessible introduction to this fast-changing area of theological study. Aimed at level one students, it encourages interaction with the New Testament texts and provides pointers for further reading and learning. The book describes the world out of which the New Testament came and what can be known of the key figures of Jesus and Paul before discussing the 27 books in turn. At every stage, attention is paid to the range of questions New Testament interpretation raises: historical, literary, theological, with worked examples from specific passages. Topics of particular interest include: What can be known about Jesus? Why are there four gospels? What is the Legacy of Paul? Does Revelation predict the End of the World?
