Blood Study Guide

1. What is blood? What are blood components and the percentage of each component?

Blood is a liquid connective tissue consisting of cells and extracellular matrix.
Components of blood includes erythrocytes [37%-52%], White blood cells and platelets [1% total volume] and Plasma [47%-63%]

2. What are the functions of blood?

- Blood brings oxygen and nutrients to all the parts of the body in order to keep working.
- Blood carries carbon dioxide and other waste materials to lungs, kidneys and digestive system to get removed from the body.
- It also fights infections and carries hormones around the body.

3. What is Plasma? And what are the components of plasma?

Plasma is the liquid portion of blood.
Components include albumin, globulins and fibrinogen.

4. Explain the viscosity of blood and the components of plasma that contribute to viscosity and diseases that can occur if the viscosity is lost.

Blood viscosity is the resistance of a fluid to flow. It refers to how thick the liquid is. *

5. Explain how blood cells are produced, explain erythropoiesis and the stimulus for red blood cell production.

6. What are red blood cells? What are properties of red blood cells?

A type of blood cell that is made in the bone marrow and found in the blood. *

7. What are functions of red blood cells?

Red blood cells contain a protein called hemoglobin, which carries oxygen from the lungs to all parts of the body.

8. What is hemoglobin and what are the structure of hemoglobin?

a red protein responsible for transporting oxygen in the blood of vertebrates. Hemoglobin has a quaternary structure. It consists of two pairs of different proteins, designated the α and β chains.

9. Why do females have a lower red blood cell count compared to males?

Women have lower red cell mass because of greater efficiency in tissue oxygenation per unit red cell mass.

10. How is iron transported? How is iron stored?

Once iron is taken up by intestinal enterocytes by divalent metal transporter 1 (DMT1), it is then transported out of the enterocyte and into plasma by ferroportin1 (Fpn1). Iron is stored in the body as ferritin (in the liver, spleen, muscle tissue, and bone marrow) and is delivered throughout the body by transferrin (a protein in blood that binds to iron).

11. Explain how iron, vitamin B12, folic acid and vitamin c are used in the production of red blood cells.

12. Explain the disposal and recycling of RBCs.

About 90% of the red blood cells are recycled by macrophages within the spleen, liver and lymph nodes. The remaining 10% of the red blood cells lyse directly in the blood plasma as a result of some pressure or force. The remnants of the lysed cell are eventually picked up by circulating macrophages.

Critical Care Study Guide Gerard J. Criner, Rodger E. Barnette, Gilbert E. D'Alonzo, 2010-06-27 Critical care medicine is a dynamic and exciting arena where complex pathophysiologic states require extensive knowledge and up to date clinical information An extensive knowledge of basic pathophysiology as well as awareness of the appropriate diagnostic tests and treatments that are used to optimize care in the critically ill is essential. Since our first edition 7 years ago, new information crucial to the care and understanding of the critically ill patient has rapidly accumulated. Because this knowledge base crosses many different disciplines, a comprehensive multidisciplinary approach presenting the information is essential, similar to the multidisciplinary approach that is used to care for the critically ill patient. We have strived to provide this content in an easily digestible format that uses a variety of teaching tools to facilitate understanding of the presented concepts and to enhance information retention. To meet the demand to provide comprehensive and diverse education in order to understand the pathogenesis and optimum care of a variety of critical illnesses, we have substantially revised the prior topics in the first edition with updated information. We have also markedly expanded the number of topics covered to include acute lung injury and the acute respiratory distress syndrome, an expanded discussion of the physiology and operation of mechanical ventilation, obstetrical care in the ICU, neurosurgical emergencies, acute coronary syndromes, cardiac arrhythmias, role of whole body rehabilitation in the ICU, ethical conduct of human research in the ICU, and nursing care of the ICU patient.

The Top Books of the Year One Blood Study Guide The year 2023 has witnessed a noteworthy surge in literary brilliance, with numerous captivating novels captivating the hearts of readers worldwide. Lets delve into the realm of popular books, exploring the captivating narratives that have enthralled audiences this year. One Blood Study Guide : Colleen Hoover's "It Ends with Us" This touching tale of love, loss, and resilience has captivated readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover expertly weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can triumph. Uncover the Best : Taylor Jenkins Reid's "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This spellbinding historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reid's captivating storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Discover the Magic : Delia Owens' "Where the Crawdads Sing" This captivating coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens spins a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, captivating readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These top-selling novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of engaging stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a masterful and suspenseful novel that will keep you speculating until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
