Outside the Box Jeannie Marshall, 2012-04-03 A lively cross cultural look at the way packaged and fast foods are marketed to our kids and a meditation on how our eating habits and our family lives are being changed in the process When Canadian journalist Jeannie Marshall moved to Rome with her husband she delighted in Italy's famous culinary traditions But when Marshall gave birth to a son she began to see how that food culture was eroding especially within young families Like their North American counterparts Italian children were eating sugary cereal in the morning and packaged processed salt and fat laden snacks later in the day Busy Italian parents were rejecting local markets for supermercati and introducing their toddlers to fast food restaurants only too happy to imprint their branding on the youngest of customers So Marshall set on a quest to discover why something that we can only call kid food is proliferating around the world How did we develop our seemingly insatiable desire for packaged foods that are virtually devoid of nutrition How can even a mighty food culture like Italy s change in just a generation And why when we should and often do know better do we persist in filling our children s lunch boxes and young bodies with ingredients that can scarcely even be considered food Through discussions with food crusaders such as Alice Waters with chefs in Italy nutritionists fresh food vendors and parents from all over and with big food companies such as PepsiCo and Nestle Marshall gets behind the issues of our children s failing nutrition and serves up a simple recipe for a return to real food
