A History of Scientific Journals Aileen Fyfe, Noah Moxham, Julie McDougall-Waters, Camilla Mørk Røstvik, 2022-10-03
Modern scientific research has changed so much since Isaac Newton's day it is more professional collaborative and international with more complicated equipment and a more diverse community of researchers Yet the use of scientific journals to report share and store results is a thread that runs through the history of science from Newton's day to ours Scientific journals are now central to academic research and careers Their editorial and peer review processes act as a check on new claims and findings and researchers build their careers on the list of journal articles they have published The journal that reported Newton's optical experiments still exists First published in 1665 and now fully digital the Philosophical Transactions has carried papers by Charles Darwin Dorothy Hodgkin and Stephen Hawking It is now one of eleven journals published by the Royal Society of London Unrivalled insights from the Royal Society's comprehensive archives have enabled the authors to investigate more than 350 years of scientific journal publishing The editorial management business practices and financial difficulties of the Philosophical Transactions and its sibling Proceedings reveal the meaning and purpose of journals in a changing scientific community At a time when we are surrounded by calls to reform the academic publishing system it has never been more urgent that we understand its history

Virtual Fundamental Cycles in Symplectic Topology John W. Morgan, Dusa McDuff, Mohammad Tehrani, Kenji Fukaya, Dominic Joyce, 2019-04-12
The method of using the moduli space of pseudo holomorphic curves on a symplectic manifold was introduced by Mikhail Gromov in 1985 From the appearance of

Gromov's original paper until today this approach has been the most important tool in global symplectic geometry To produce numerical invariants of these manifolds using this method requires constructing a fundamental cycle associated with moduli spaces This volume brings together three approaches to constructing the virtual fundamental cycle for the moduli space of pseudo holomorphic curves All approaches are based on the idea of local Kuranishi charts for the moduli space Workers in the field will get a comprehensive understanding of the details of these constructions and the assumptions under which they can be made These techniques and results will be essential in further applications of this approach to producing invariants of symplectic manifolds
