Under this plan, an individual entrepreneur may also contribute to growth of the company through long-term investments. For this, a special growth equity plan or SAFE (Simple Agreement for Future Equity) can be implemented. Long-term investments are made during the company's early stages, typically before the start of operations, and are often used to fund research and development. These investments are typically made in exchange for convertible preferred shares or warrants, which can be converted into common shares at a later date. This allows the entrepreneur to participate in the company's growth without the need for immediate cash outlay.
