Protecting EU Consumers in Internet of Things Ecosystems Christof Koolen, 2025-10-21 The number of devices being connected to the internet is growing rapidly This trend referred to as the Internet of Things IoT reflects the gradual transformation of everyday objects into smart devices These smart devices are capable of collecting data from their surroundings and sharing that data over the internet As a result the development of the IoT raises extensive legal questions from a consumer protection perspective First the functionality of smart devices challenges consumer autonomy and the average consumer's ability to make well informed transactional decisions Second concerns remain about consumer choice as consumers can't easily switch due to interoperability limitations Third consumer privacy is threatened by the data driven nature of the IoT

Protecting EU Consumers in Internet of Things Ecosystems explores solutions to these challenges by critically analyzing the interplay between EU consumer law EU competition law and EU data privacy law aiming to balance innovation and consumer protection in IoT ecosystems At a time when society must question how the benefits of IoT can be harnessed for the greater good rather than posing a threat to consumers businesses and governments this volume offers valuable insights for academics policymakers businesses and anyone interested in understanding the impact of technology on our daily lives
