CLASS DISCUSSIONS

Persuasive Activity #3: Birth Order Debate

Students begin by talking in small groups together according to their birth order (oldest, middle, youngest). Depending on the size of your group, there will likely be more than one group representing a birth position.

Eventually, each group is trying to convince and persuade that your birth order position is your family's the most difficult.

Write your own arguments:

- Oldest child
- Middle child
- Youngest child
- Only child

Now time to convince for your group and persuade your argument with a convincing statement.

- Examples:
- "The group believes in arguing that being oldest is a harder job to do."
  - "The group believes in arguing that being middle is a harder job to do."
  - "The group believes in arguing that being youngest is a harder job to do."
  - "The group believes in arguing that being only child is a harder job to do."

Now each group member of your group will have a role in explaining and in making a persuasive statement.

- Examples:
- "I would like to tell you an argument about (your statement) to make you understand it."
  - "I would like to tell you an argument about (your statement) to make you understand it."
