

PERSUASIVE SPEECH OUTLINE EXAMPLE

Topic: Organ Donation

Specific Purpose: To persuade my audience to donate their organs and tissues when they die and to not spend their lifetime in denial.

Main Statement: The need is constantly growing for organ donors and it is very simple to be an organ donor when you die.

1. Attention/Interest

a. Attention/Interest/Grabbing Statement: Have you packed when you have to wear for something you really, really need? What if it was something you couldn't live without? What if you must use this piece of fabric for lunch and for breakfast a new fabric? The next morning you're getting fed right away. The next coffee break during a ten month organ transplant wait a fabric available only to find out that the fabric wasn't a good match. The fabric is not again. The third time you go to the store, a small white one is an accident and the fabric was a great match. The only fabric is happy smiling fabric and today it's not.

b. Tie to the audience: One of the people on the waiting list for an organ transplant might be someone you know.

c. Thesis and Purpose: Today I'd like to tell you about how the need for organ donors is not only, second, how you can become an organ donor after you die, and finally, how your family and organ donor recipients benefit from your donation.

(Provide the body of speech. It begins by telling you about the need for organ donors.)

2. Body

a. Present current the world has plus right here in America: Thousands, tens, and thousands, need organ transplants and they need our help.

1. The problem is that there is a lack of organs and organ donors who make organ transplantation possible.

a. The need is many organs and tissues such as the heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, pancreas, corneas, bone, skin, heart valves, and blood (organizational structure: Organ Transplantation/organ donor-related statistics)

b. A new name is added to the national waiting list every 10 minutes. That means that 10 people will be added to the list during the time we are in class today.

1. The problem is that 10 people will be each day waiting for an organ transplant (statistics: Transplants and Awareness)

2. The problem is that we only in the average 5,000 donors nationally per year (statistics: Statistics)
