Cavaglieri,Giuseppe Sergi,Sante De Sanctis,1917 Rome, Ravenna, and Venice, 750-1000 Veronica West-Harling,2020-08-20 The richest and most politically complex regions in Italy in the earliest middle ages were the Byzantine sections of the peninsula thanks to their links with the most coherent early medieval state the Byzantine empire This comparative study of the histories of Rome Ravenna and Venice examines their common Byzantine past since all three escaped incorporation into the Lombard kingdom in the late 7th and early 8th centuries By 750 however Rome and Ravenna s political links with the Byzantine Empire had been irrevocably severed Thus did these cities remain socially and culturally heirs of Byzantium How did their political structures social organisation material culture and identities change Did they become part of the Western political and ideological framework of Italy This study identifies and analyses the ways in which each of these cities preserved the structures of the Late Antique social and cultural world or in which they adapted each and every element available to them to their own needs at various times and in various ways to create a new identity based partly on their Roman heritage and partly on their growing integration with the rest of medieval Italy It tells a story which encompasses the main contemporary narratives documentary evidence recent archaeological discoveries and discussions on art history it follows the markers of status and identity through titles names ethnic groups liturgy and ritual foundation myths representations symbols and topographies of power to shed light on a relatively little known area of early medieval Italian history
