- Stress management is a psychological process
- Stress management is the ability to cope with stress

- Submersible pumps for a small-scale water supply system Advantages: a continuously running well pump can be used for several days Disadvantages: usually low water pressure cannot deliver high water pressure for long periods of time
- A 1000-gallon pump station – the water goes from the pump station to a tank and is then distributed to the houses – requires a pressure-controlled water delivery system. This system can be used to deliver a constant water pressure to the houses.
- Water treatment plant – a facility that treats water to make it safe to drink. It can also be used to remove other contaminants from the water. The water is then distributed to the houses.
