Owen,Pratik Mukherjee,2017-03-07 The human brain is extraordinary complex and yet its origin is a simple tubular structure Rapid and dramatic structural growth takes place during the fetal and perinatal period By the time of birth a repertoire of major cortical subcortical and white matter structures resembling the adult pattern has emerged however there are continued maturational changes of the gray matter and white matter throughout childhood and adolescence and into adulthood The maturation of neuronal structures provides the neuroanatomical basis for the acquisition and refinement of cognitive functions during postnatal development Histological imaging has been traditionally dominant in understanding neuroanatomy of early brain development and still plays an unparalleled role in this field Modern magnetic resonance imaging MRI techniques including diffusion MRI as noninvasive tools readily applied to in vivo brains have become an important complementary approach in revealing the detailed brain anatomy including the structural connectivity between brain regions In this research topic we presented the most recent investigations on understanding the neuroanatomy and connectivity of human brain development using both histology and MRI Modern advances in mapping normal developmental brain anatomy and connectivity should elucidate many neurodevelopmental disorders ranging from rare congenital malformations to common disorders such as autism and attention deficit hyperactivity disorder ADHD which is a prerequisite

Discourse, Use of Military Force and Role of State Xiaoshan Ni,2022-11-25 As the prototype of the civilian power Germany has always stressed the importance and necessity of diplomatic means to resolve crises The participation of the Bundeswehr in the International Security Assistance Force ISAF in Afghanistan was a significant exercise of the new security policy after German reunification Given that linguistic actors construct knowledge through their personal actions security policy is necessarily reflected in the relevant discourses of political elites This publication attempts to combine Linguistic Discourse Analysis and Role Theory to construct a role theoretic discourse analysis approach for German security policy study The parliamentary debate is a prerequisite for the legitimizing mandate for the use of the German military abroad the topos topoi and pro and contra arguments construct the parliamentary debate discourse and influence decisions on military action abroad the use of the topos topoi and arguments is constructed by the role perceptions of the German political elite and the final decisions are the result of behavioral preferences influenced by role perceptions Computer Gaming World ,
