Imploding Populations in Japan and Germany, 2011-06-09 This book provides a comprehensive overview of the impact of low birth rates and population decline on Japan and Germany Experts from both countries examine a broad range of issues from demographic change social ageing family policies family formation work life balance domestic and international migration to business perspectives and labour market issues Focussed on Japan and Germany two highly developed countries with extremely low fertility the chapters of this volume also refer to several other countries for comparison In the absence of war famine and pandemics rapid population decline is a new phenomenon Japan and Germany are struggling with this reality but many other countries will follow their example Thinking in the World Jill Bennett, Mary Zournazi, 2019-12-26 Engaging with contemporary issues responsibly and creatively can become a very abstract activity We can sometimes find ourselves talking in terms of theories and philosophies which bear very little resemblance to how life is actually lived and experienced In Thinking in the World Jill Bennett and Mary Zournazi curate writings and conversations with some of the most influential thinkers in the world and ask them not just why we should engage with the world but also how we might do this. Rather than simply thinking about the world, the authors examine the ways in which we think in and with the world. Whether it's how to be environmentally responsible, how to think in film or how to dance with a non-human, the need to engage meaningfully in a lived way is at the forefront of this collection. Thinking in the World showcases some of the most compelling arguments for a philosophy in action. Including wholly original, never before released material from Michel Serres, Alphonso Lingis, and Mieke Bal, the different chapters in this book constitute dialogues and approachable essays as well as impassioned arguments for a particular way of approaching thinking in the world.

The New Revolution in Psychology and the Neurosciences Mario Manto, Cherie Marvel, Larry Vandervort, 2022-06-23

Historically, researchers of neuroscience and psychology have believed that the cerebral cortex produces the unique mental capacities of human beings. However, a prevalence of brain imaging evidence now shows that the cerebral cortex while the seat of our everyday experience, notably in working memory, is not predominant in actually formulating our amazing capabilities. Rather, the achievements that mark humans as Homo sapiens originate in the cerebellum, which increased three to fourfold in size and acquired massive cognitive and social optimization capabilities over the last million years. Thus, through its optimization of experience and skill of the cerebral cortex, it was the cerebellum that was and is predominant in producing culture, language, mathematics, creativity, and extreme levels of skill in all areas from sports to computer science and art. These optimizing functions of the cerebellum are shown in the cases of Albert Einstein, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, Maryam Mirzakhani, and the predictive powers of Stonehenge. This book fills a critical role in bringing courses up to date with the profound basic changes, this newly understood predominant role of the cerebellum, provides for understanding the mechanisms related to all topics in psychology and neuroscience. It is critical that this new revolution in psychology and the neurosciences be introduced and reviewed in courses that are part of both undergraduate and graduate studies in psychology and neuroscience. This text might also be of use to courses in anthropology and cross disciplinary studies as the cerebellum was critically involved in the evolution of cognitive and social behaviour Active
