Occupational Therapies without Borders - Volume 2 Frank Kronenberg, Nick Pollard, Dikaïos Sakellariou, 2011-10-24 The companion text to Occupational Therapy without Borders Volume 1, learning from the spirit of survivors. In this landmark text, writers from around the world discuss a plurality of occupation based approaches that explicitly acknowledge the full potential of the art and science of occupational therapy. The profession is presented as a political possibilities based practice concerned with what matters most to people in real life contexts, generating practice based evidence to complement evidence based practice. As these writers demonstrate, occupational therapies are far more than as some critical views have suggested, a monoculture of practice rooted in Western modernity. Nobel Peace Laureate Desmond Tutu captures the ethos of this book, which essentially calls for engagements in the service of a purpose that is larger than the advancement of our profession's interests. Your particular approach to advancing our wellbeing and health strikes me as both unique and easily taken for granted. Whilst you value and work with medical understandings, your main aim seems to go beyond these. You seem to enable people to appreciate more consciously how what we do to and with ourselves and others on a daily basis impacts on our individual and collective wellbeing. As occupational therapists, you have a significant contribution to make, allowing people from all walks of life to contribute meaningfully to the wellbeing of others. Links philosophy with practical examples of engaging people in ordinary occupations of daily life as a means of enabling them to transform their own lives. Includes contributions from worldwide leaders in occupational therapy research and practice. Describes concrete initiatives in under served and neglected populations. Looks at social and political mechanisms that influence people's access to useful and meaningful occupation. Chapters increase diversity of contributions geographically, culturally and politically. Emphasis on practice, education and research maintains academic credibility. A glossary and practical examples in nearly every chapter make text more accessible to students

Principles of Assessment and Outcome Measurement for Occupational Therapists and Physiotherapists Alison Laver Fawcett, 2013-03-15 This textbook on assessment and outcome measurement is written for both occupational therapy and physiotherapy students and qualified therapists. It begins by defining what is meant by assessment, outcome evaluation and measurement and discussing the complexity of therapy assessment and measurement including the challenge of measuring human behaviour and the impact of factors such as task demand and context including the environment. Methods of data collection e.g. observation, interview, standardised testing and sources e.g. self-report proxy for collecting information about clients are then reviewed and the main purposes of assessment e.g. descriptive, evaluative, predictive, discriminative presented. The book then addresses the topics of standardisation, levels of measurement, reliability, validity and clinical utility. There is a chapter describing and applying models for categorizing levels of function to aid assessment and measurement. The concept of clinical reasoning and reflective practice is then explored. Application of principles is supported through detailed case studies and worksheets and the criteria for test critique and guidelines for choosing a particular assessment approach are discussed.

Professional Care for the Elderly Mentally Ill Liz Matthew, 2013-11-11 Services to older people with mental health problems have gone through radical change in recent years. Legislation has had a profound effect by dictating how care to older people is delivered both within hospital and within the community. The recent government agenda emphasizes cost effectiveness, value for money and accountability. This too is an important driving force in re-evaluating the service although not everyone would agree with many of the proposed strategies and there are clearly different views as to the appropriateness of many of the services. One thing is certain however: the move towards interdisciplinary working is here to stay. Not all change has been led by legislation and many innovations have been founded in the day-to-day practices in the care of older people with mental health problems. A service of course does not become integrated merely by imposing joint working on a number of professionally based disciplines and in many ways this may not be desirable. At its worst it produces duplication where people from different backgrounds are all doing the same job. This is not the intention of joint working; instead it should attempt to improve the quality of service by a rich mix of skills and experience from a number of related disciplines.
