Ocean Power Geography 12

Ocean Power Geography 12:

Testing American Sea Power Craig C. Felker, 2013-03-28 The Pacific Theater in World War II depended on American sea power This power was refined between 1923 and 1940 when the U S Navy held twenty one major fleet exercises designed to develop strategy and allow officers to enact plans in an operational setting Prior to 1923 naval officers relied heavily on the theories of Capt Alfred Thayer Mahan who argued that sea control was vital to military victory best attained through use of the battleship Fleet exercises however allowed valuable practice with other military resources and theories As a direct result of these exercises the navy incorporated different technologies and updated its own outdated strategies Although World War II brought unforeseen challenges and the disadvantages of simulation exercises quickly became apparent fleet problems may have opened the door to different ideas that allowed the U S Navy ultimately to succeed Testing American Sea Power challenges the conventional wisdom that Mahanian theory held the American Navy in a steel grip Felker s research and analysis the first to concentrate on the navy s interwar exercises will make a valuable contribution to naval history for historians military professionals and naval instructors

The Navy in the Post-Cold War World Colin S. Gray, 2010-11 The Navy in the Post Cold War World is the first book to invite the reader to think strategically explores the strategic relationship among sea land and air power with particular attention to the course of a conflict viewed as a whole and ventures boldly into the region of the meaning of space strategy for maritime power and the relevance of that power in the still emerging post Cold War security environment The Navy in the Post Cold War World is unusual because it is written by an internationally recognized general strategic theorist and analyst rather than by a long standing naval writer Gray is thus better able to view naval issues in proper perspective Gray delves deeply into the role of sea power as an enabling agent and team player in the overall enterprise of national and international security He provides the most current assessment of what sea and space power mean for each other as well as envisioning the future of maritime oriented defense

Guide for Professional Reading for Officers of the United States Navy and Marine Corps United States. Bureau of Naval Personnel, Great Powers and Geopolitical Change Jakub J. Grygiel, 2007-02-01 Named by Foreign Affairs as a book to read on geopolitics In an era of high technology and instant communication the role of geography in the formation of strategy and politics in international relations can be undervalued But the mountains of Afghanistan and the scorching sand storms of Iraq have provided stark reminders that geographical realities continue to have a profound impact on the success of military campaigns Here political scientist Jakub J Grygiel brings to light the importance of incorporating geography into grand strategy He argues that states can increase and maintain their position of power by pursuing a geostrategy that focuses on control of resources and lines of communication Grygiel examines case studies of Venice the Ottoman Empire and China in the global fifteenth century all great powers that faced a dramatic change in geopolitics when new routes and continents were discovered The location of resources the layout of trade networks and the stability of state boundaries played a large role in the success or failure of these three powers Grygiel asserts that though many other aspects of foreign policy have changed throughout history strategic response to geographical features remains one of the most salient factors in establishing and maintaining power in the international arena Asian Maritime Strategies Bernard D Cole, 2013-10-15

This book is concerned with both the national security concerns of Asian maritime nations and the security of the Asian maritime commons These are defined as the Pacific and Indian Oceans and associated seas bays and gulfs with their included sea lines of communication SLOCs The most useful geographical designation for maritime Asia is the Indo Pacific Bernard Cole provides both a survey of the maritime strategies of the primary nations of the Indo Pacific region and an evaluation of the domestic and international politics that drive those strategies The United States Canada Russia Japan North Korea South Korea China the Philippines Brunei Indonesia Vietnam Singapore Malaysia Myanmar India Pakistan Iran the smaller Indian Ocean and Persian Gulf states are all surveyed and analyzed The United States Japan China and India not surprisingly draw the most attention given their large modern navies and distant strategic reach The author concludes that the United States remains the dominant maritime power in this huge region stretching from Canada to the Persian Gulf despite its lack of a traditionally strong merchant marine U S maritime power remains paramount due primarily to its dominant navy The Chinese naval modernization program deservedly receives a good deal of public attention but Cole argues that on a day to day basis the Japanese Maritime Self Defense Force as its navy is named is the most powerful maritime force in Far Eastern waters while the modernizing Indian Navy potentially dominates the Indian Ocean In fact a focus of this work is the exemplary description of all the region's navies with the author noting the naval arms race that is underway particularly in the area of submarine acquisition Cole is careful to couch this phenomenon in the regional concerns about Chinese naval expansion and the desire to ensure a continued massive U S naval presence The current naval developments in the region evince elements of a naval arms race but lack the coherent maritime strategies to make naval developments dangerous to regional peace and security Most telling will be whether United States power and focus remain on the region while adjusting to continued Chinese maritime power in a way acceptable to both nations No other current or recent work provides such a complete description of the Indo Pacific region's navies and maritime strategies while analyzing the current and future impact of those forces China Goes to Sea Andrew S. Erickson, Lyle J Goldstein, Carnes Lord, 2009-07-01 In modern history China has been primarily a land power dominating smaller states along its massive continental flanks But China's turn toward the sea is now very much a reality as evident in its stunning rise in global shipbuilding markets its vast and expanding merchant marine the wide offshore reach of its energy and minerals exploration companies its growing fishing fleet and indeed its increasingly modern navy Yet for all these achievements there is still profound skepticism regarding China's potential as a genuine maritime power Beijing must still import the most vital subcomponents for its shipyards maritime governance remains severely bureaucratically challenged and the navy evinces at least as of yet little enthusiasm for significant blue water power projection capabilities This volume provides a truly comprehensive assessment of prospects for China's maritime development by situating these important geostrategic phenomena within a larger world historical context China is hardly the only land power in history to attempt transformation by fostering sea power Many continental powers have elected or been impelled to transform themselves into significant maritime powers in order to safeguard their strategic position or advance their interests We examine cases of attempted transformation from the Persian Empire to the Soviet Union and determine the reasons for their success or failure Too many works on China view the nation in isolation Of course China's history and culture are to some extent exceptional but building intellectual fences actually hinders the effort to understand China's current development trajectory Without underestimating the enduring pull of China's past as it relates to threats to the country's internal stability and its landward borders this comparative study provides reason to believe that China has turned the corner on a genuine maritime transformation If that proves indeed to be the case it would be a remarkable if not singular event in the history of the last two millennia

Clinton's Foreign Policy in Russia George Andrew MacLean, 2006 The US Russian Highly Enriched Uranium HEU Purchase Agreement was one of the most remarkable initiatives of Clinton's presidency yet one of the most obscure that still continues under George W Bush This book examines the story behind Clinton's decision and its repercussions on our understanding of arms control foreign policy decision making and US Russian relations

The Europeanization of the World John M. Headley, 2016-07-26 The Europeanization of the World puts forward a defense of Western civilization and the unique gifts it has bequeathed to the world in particular human rights and constitutional democracy at a time when many around the globe equate the West with hubris and thinly veiled imperialism John Headley argues that the Renaissance and the Reformation provided the effective currents for the development of two distinctive political ideas The first is the idea of a common humanity derived from antiquity developed through natural law and worked out in the new emerging global context to provide the basis for today's concept of universal human rights The second is the idea of political dissent first posited in the course of the Protestant Reformation and later maturing in the politics of the British monarchy Headley traces the development and implications of this first idea from antiquity to the present He examines the English revolution of 1688 and party government in Britain and America into the early nineteenth century And he challenges the now common stance in historical studies of moral posturing against the West Headley contends that these unique ideas are Western civilization's most precious export however presently distorted

Certainly European culture has its dark side Auschwitz is but one example Yet as Headley shows no other civilization in history has bequeathed so sustained a tradition of universalizing aspirations as the West The Europeanization of the World makes an argument that is controversial but long overdue Written by one of our preeminent scholars of the Renaissance and Reformation this elegantly reasoned book is certain to spark a much needed reappraisal of the Western tradition Red Star over the Pacific, Second Edition Toshi Yoshihara, James Holmes, 2018-12-15 Combining a close knowledge of Asia and an ability to tap Chinese language sources with naval combat experience and expertise in sea power theory the authors assess how the rise of Chinese sea power will affect U S maritime strategy in Asia They argue that China has laid the groundwork for a sustained challenge to American primacy in maritime Asia and to defend this hypothesis they look back to Alfred Thayer Mahan s sea power theories now popular with the Chinese The book considers how strategic thought about the sea shapes Beijing s deliberations and compares China s geostrategic predicament to that of the Kaiser s Germany a century ago It examines the Chinese navy s operational concepts tactics and capabilities and appraises China s missile force The authors conclude that China now presents a challenge to America s strategic position of such magnitude that Washington must compete in earnest A Bibliography of the History of Agriculture in the United States Everett Eugene Edwards, 1930

Seapower Geoffrey Till, 1994 This volume explains the evolution of maritime strategy through the twentieth century and concludes with some speculations about its future in the next century The forms and practices of navies and maritime strategy are analysed through the development of eight historical and contemporary topics drawn from the First and Second World Wars the Cold War and post Cold War period Bases Abroad Robert E. Harkavy, 1989 Analyzing the modern status of military bases and the diplomacy that defines their location and access this book explores the global basing networks of the world s major military powers their type location and the politics and economics of their acquisition It provides data on armaments intelligence communications research and space facilities tables and maps that display U S and Soviet global networks and the various military roles and nuclear deterrence capabilities for global power projection and support of client states in the Third World Harkavy also discusses emerging political and technological developments that could alter basing diplomacy International Law of the Sea and Marine Affairs Nikos Papadakis, Martin Ira Glassner, 1984-04-06 International Law of the Sea and Marine Affairs Explaining Contemporary Asian Military Modernization Sheryn Lee, 2021-04-19 This book proposes a novel theoretical framework of interactive arming in order to explain armament dynamics in contemporary Asia Frequently the modernisation of contemporary naval forces in Asia is described as an arms race with the underlying assumption being that weapons acquisitions and increases in defence expenditure are competitive and bilateral and due to conflicting purposes or mutual fears This book argues that the concept of an arms race is an unsuitable one for explaining contemporary military modernisation in 21st century Asia Instead it proposes a novel and innovative concept of interactive arming and argues that what drives conflict is political rivalry not weapons acquisitions Instead of perceiving arming as abnormal behaviour the book views arming as a natural strategic behaviour of states and military modernisation as a basic requirement for a state's ability to survive This book will be of much interest to students of Asian security strategic studies and international relations in general Miscellaneous Publication ,1930 The Agricultural Outlook for 1930 ,1930
