Open Source Ecosystems: Diverse Communities Interacting Cornelia Boldyreff,Kevin Crowston,Björn Lundell,Anthony I. Wasserman,2009-07-10

Welcome to the 5th International Conference on Open Source Systems It is quite an achievement to reach the five year mark that s the sign of a successful enterprise This annual conference is now being recognized as the primary event for the open source research community attracting not only high quality papers but also building a community around a technical program a collection of workshops and starting this year a Doctoral Consortium Reaching this milestone reflects the efforts of many people including the conference founders as well as the organizers and participants in the previous conferences My task has been easy and has been greatly aided by the hard work of Kevin Crowston and Cornelia Boldyreff the Program Committee as well as the Organizing Team led by Björn Lundell All of us are also grateful to our attendees especially in the difficult economic climate of 2009 We hope the participants found the conference valuable both for its technical content and for its personal networking opportunities To me it is interesting to look back over the past five years not just at this conference but at the development and acceptance of open source software Since 2004 the business and commercial side of open source has grown enormously At that time there were only a handful of open source businesses led by RedHat and its Linux distribution Companies such as MySQL and JBoss were still quite small

Readercentric Writing for Digital Media David Hailey, 2016-12-05 This book presents an altogether new approach to writing and evaluating writing in digital media It suggests that usability theory provides few tools for evaluating content because usability theory assumes only one kind of writing on the Internet The author suggests three models user centric usability model persuasion centric encouraging the reader to linger and be persuaded Canon camera ads and quality centric encouraging the reader to linger and learn or be entertained because of the quality of the writing NASA gov and YouTube Designed for professional writers and writing students this text provides a rubric for writing in digital media but more importantly it provides a rubric and vocabulary for identifying and explaining problems in copy that already exists The Internet has become a pastiche of cut and paste content often placed by non writers to fill space for no particular reason or by computers with no oversight from humans e g Amazon com Because these snippets are typically on topic but often for the wrong purpose or audience professional writers have difficulty identifying the problems and an even harder time explaining them Finding an effective tool for identifying and explaining problems in digital content becomes a particularly important problem as writers increasingly struggle with growing complications in complex information systems systems that create and manage their own content with little human intervention Being able to look at a body of copy and immediately see that it is problematic is an important skill that is lacking in a surprising number of professional writers
