The Atlas of Reds and Blues Devi S. Laskar, 2019-02-05 This Washington Post Best Book of the Year grapples with the complexities of the second generation American experience what it means to be a woman of color in the workplace and a sister a wife and a mother to daughters in today's America When a woman known only as Mother moves her family from Atlanta to its wealthy suburbs she discovers that neither the times nor the people have changed since her childhood in a small Southern town Despite the intervening decades Mother is met with the same questions Where are you from No where are you really from The American born daughter of Bengali immigrants she finds that her answer Here is never enough Mother's simmering anger breaks through one morning when during a violent and unfounded police raid on her home she finally refuses to be complacent As she lies bleeding from a gunshot wound her thoughts race from childhood games with her sister and visits to cousins in India to her time in the newsroom before having her three daughters to the early days of her relationship with a husband who now spends more time flying business class than at home Drawing inspiration from the author's own terrifying experience of a raid on her home Devi S Laskar's debut novel explores in exquisite lyrical prose an alternate reality that might have been The entire novel takes place over the course of a single morning and the effect is devastatingly potent Marie Claire Devi S Laskar's The Atlas of Reds and Blues is as narratively beautiful as it is brutal I've never read a novel that does nearly as much in so few pages Kiese Laymon author of Heavy Reds and Blues Roderick Hunt, Alex Brychta, 2014 Junior Republic, 1914 Primary Education, 1919 The Wealth of Networks Yochai Benkler, 2006-01-01 Describes how patterns of information knowledge and cultural production are changing The author shows that the way information and knowledge are made available can either limit or enlarge the ways people create and express themselves He describes the range of legal and policy choices that confront The Archer's Register, 1881

Central Intelligence Agency, 1968 The Daily You Joseph Turow, 2012-01-10 The Internet is often hyped as a means to enhanced consumer power a hypercustomized media world where individuals exercise unprecedented control over what they see and do That is the scenario media guru Nicholas Negroponte predicted in the 1990s with his hypothetical online newspaper The Daily Me and it is one we experience now in daily ways But as media expert Joseph Turow shows the customized media environment we inhabit today reflects diminished consumer power Not only ads and discounts but even news and entertainment are being customized by newly powerful media agencies on the basis of data we don t know they are collecting and individualized profiles we don t know we have Little is known about this new industry how is this data being collected and analyzed And how are our profiles created and used How do you know if you have been identified as a target or waste or placed in one of the industry s finer grained marketing niches Are you for example a Socially Liberal Organic Eater a Diabetic Individual in the Household or Single City Struggler And if so how does that affect what you see and do online Drawing on groundbreaking research including interviews with industry insiders this important book shows how advertisers have come to wield such power over individuals and media outlets and what can be done to stop it
