No Mans Nightingale A Wexford Case:

No Man's Nightingale Ruth Rendell, 2013 No Man's Nightingale the eagerly anticipated twenty fourth title in Ruth Rendell's bestselling Detective Chief Inspector Wexford series Sarah Hussain was not popular with many people in the community of Kingsmarkham She was born of mixed parentage a white Irishwoman and an immigrant Indian Hindu She was also the Reverend of St Peter's Church But it comes as a profound shock to everyone when she is found strangled in the Vicarage A garrulous cleaner Maxine also shared by the Wexfords discovers the body In his comparatively recent retirement the former Detective Chief Inspector is devoting much time to reading and is deep into Edward Gibbon's The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire He has little patience with Maxine's prattle But when his old friend Mike Burden asks if he might like to assist on this case as Crime Solutions Adviser unpaid Wexford is obliged to pay more precise attention to all available information The old instincts have not been blunted by a life where he and Dora divide their time between London and Kingsmarkham Wexford retains a relish for solving puzzles and a curiosity about people which is invaluable in detective work For all his experience and sophistication Burden tends to jump to conclusions But he is wise enough to listen to the man whose office he inherited and whose experience makes him a most formidable ally

No Man's Nightingale Ruth Rendell, 2013-11-05 A female Vicar named Sarah Hussein is discovered strangled in her Kingsmarkham Vicarage A single mother to a teenage girl Hussein was a woman working in a male dominated profession Moreover she was of mixed race and working to modernize the church Could racism or sexism have played a factor in her murder As he searches the Vicar's Wexford sees a book containing a letter serving as a bookmark Wexford puts it into his pocket and soon realizes his grave error the former policeman has taken away a piece of valuable evidence without telling anybody

100 British Crime Writers Esme Miskimmin, 2020-11-12 100 British Crime Writers explores a history of British crime writing between 1855 and 2015 through 100 writers detailing their lives and significant writing and exploring their contributions to the genre Divided into four sections The Victorians Edwardians and World War One 1855 1918 The Golden Age and World War Two 1919 1945 Post War and Cold War 1946 1989 and To the Millennium and Beyond 1990 2015 each section offers an introduction to the significant features of these eras in crime fiction and discusses trends in publication readership and critical response With entries spanning the earliest authors of crime fiction to a selection of innovative contemporary novelists this book considers the development and progression of the genre in the light of historical and social events

Clues from the Couch Laird R. Blackwell, 2022-06-27 The detective story the classic whodunit with its time displacement structure of crime according to most literary historians is of relatively recent origin Early in its development the whodunit was harshly criticized for its tightly formula bound structure Many critics prematurely proclaimed the death of the whodunit and even of detective fiction altogether Yet today the genre is alive as contemporary authors have brought it into modern times through a significant integration of elaborate character development and psychology With the modern psychological detective story emerging from the historical cauldron of detective fiction and early psychology the genre continues to develop a complexity that reflects and guides the literary sophistication needed This book the first of its kind analyzes over 150 whodunit novels and short stories across the decades from The Moonstone to the contemporary novels that saved the genre from an ignominious death
