

Nonverbal Communication Reflection Paper

I learned a lot about Human Communication when I read the chapter about Nonverbal Communication. Nonverbal Communication is the process of using messages that are not words to generate meaning. I learned that it happens every day. I also learned that is very hard to read or understand depending on the person you are speaking to or with. Verbal and Nonverbal codes work in conjunction with each other. The words we speak or say are used in conjunction six different ways: to repeat, to emphasize, to complement, to contradict, to substitute, and to regulate. I never knew until reading this chapter that we do these things all most every time we communicate. These are things I took for granted until now. I now know that I will pay closer attention when speaking so I can work on how I communicate my nonverbal codes. I also learned that nonverbal codes consist of nonword symbols. Those symbols are bodily movements, facial expressions, bodily appearance, and personal space, time, touching, vocal cues, clothing and artifacts. I now know from this lesson that I also so all of these things as well when communicating. Everyone uses one or more of these when they communicate. I know from my own experience that people can read me by my kinesics. I know that I need to be more aware of how I communicate my nonword symbols. People can stereotype you if you are not careful. Understanding nonverbal communication is more common than not. I now understand how to interpret nonverbal codes better than I did before. I am also aware now of how I should speak to people using my nonverbal codes so that they may understand me as well. This chapter was very interesting to me because all of the things we do without speaking to people is amazing. I never paid attention before. I now understand nonverbal communication as well as how to use it in my everyday life better than I did before taking this class.

Nonverbal Communication Paper:

Nonverbal Communication Patrick W. Miller, 1986 Nonverbal Communication Juliane Krueger, 2006-05-09 Seminar paper from the year 2005 in the subject Communications Intercultural Communication grade 2 University of L neburg course Conflict Talk Sociolinguistics Meets Pragmatics language English abstract 1 Introduction Nonverbal communication accompanies us mostly unconsciously every day We do not think what kind of gestures or distance is appropriate in certain situations However about 60 to 65 percent of all meaning created in human encounters derives from nonverbal cues KNAPP 246 Studies of nonverbal communication can be traced back till times of the Roman Empire The rhetorical treatises of Quintilian and Cicero already dealt with the meaning of hand gestures However just in the seventeenth century with Bonifacio s and Bulwer s works gestures obtained a status of a subject of its one right BULL 25 Yet elaborate study of nonverbal communication is only possible since sophisticated recording techniques have been developed which allow repeated viewing and analysis of human behaviour for instance data gloves or video tapes As a consequence studies of nonverbal communication developed rather lately In the late fifties of the last century Edward HALL and Ray BIRDWHISTELL made first attempts to study nonverbal behaviour not only as a psychological function but as a means of communication In general studies of nonverbal communication emerged as a reaction to the overwhelming emphasis placed on verbal behaviour in the field of communication JONES LEBARON 512 Subsequent a number of studies were conducted so that in the seventies nonverbal communication became an established topic HELLER 2 In the nineties space and place received renewed interest This paper introduces the vast field of nonverbal communication It is aimed at giving an overview of the different forms while focussing on proxemics as all behavior is located in and constructed of space LOW Z IGA 1

Fundamentals of Verbal and Nonverbal Communication and the Biometric Issue Anna Esposito, NATO Programme for Security through Science, 2007 The main theme of this publication is the fundamental features of verbal and nonverbal communication and their relationships with the identification of a person his/her socio-cultural background and personal traits The problem of understanding human behaviour in terms of personal traits and the possibility of an algorithmic implementation that exploits personal traits to identify a person unambiguously are among the great challenges of modern science and technology On the one hand there is the theoretical question of what makes each individual unique among all others that share similar traits and what makes a culture unique among various cultures On the other hand there is the technological need to be able to protect people from individual disturbance and dangerous behaviour that could damage an entire community interesting research areas is that related to human interaction and face to face communication It is in this context that knowledge is shared and personal traits acquire their significance Nonverbal Communication Judee K Burgoon, Valerie Manusov, Laura K. Guerrero, 2016-01-08 Drawing significantly on both classic and contemporary research Nonverbal Communication speaks to today's students with modern examples that illustrate nonverbal communication in their lived experiences This new edition authored by three of the foremost scholars in nonverbal communication builds on the approach pioneered by Burgoon Buller and Woodall which focused on both the features and the functions that comprise the nonverbal signaling system Grounded in the latest multidisciplinary research and theory Nonverbal Communication strives to
