The United Nations and Human Rights Frédéric Mégret, Philip Alston, 2020-04-02 The very concept of human rights implies governmental accountability To ensure that governments are indeed held accountable for their treatment of citizens and others the United Nations has established a wide range of mechanisms to monitor compliance and to seek to prevent as well as respond to violations The panoply of implementation measures that the UN has taken since 1945 has resulted in a diverse and complex set of institutional arrangements the effectiveness of which varies widely Indeed there is much doubt as to the effectiveness of much of the UN s human rights efforts but also about what direction it should take Inevitable instances of politicization and the hostile or at best ambivalent attitude of most governments has at times endangered the fragile progress made on the more technical fronts At the same time technical efforts cannot dispense with the complex politics of actualizing the promise of human rights at and through the UN In addition to significant actual and potential problems of duplication overlapping and inconsistent approaches there are major problems of under funding and insufficient expertise The complexity of these arrangements and the difficulty in evaluating their impact makes a comprehensive guide of the type provided here all the more indispensable These essays critically examine the functions procedures and performance of each of the major UN organs dealing with human rights including the Security Council and the International Court of Justice as well as the more specialized bodies monitoring the implementation of human rights treaties Significant attention is devoted to the considerable efforts at reforming the UN s human rights machinery as illustrated most notably by the creation of the Human Rights Council to replace the Commission on Human Rights The book also looks at the relationship between the various bodies and the potential for major reforms and restructuring

This sixth volume 2015 of the European Yearbook of International Economic Law puts a particular emphasis on non tariff barriers NTBs to trade and the world trade order With the steady reduction of tariff rates since the GATT 47 came into force focus in recent years has been on the vast and complex landscape of non tariff barriers to trade States as well as scholars seemingly struggle with the multitude of measures pooled under this expression as there is no single acknowledged definition of the term and its relation to the term non tariff measures remains equally blurred Particularly in practice and on a multilateral level there appears to be some awkwardness when it comes to coping with NTBs since multilateral trade rules seem to be in conflict with national regulatory autonomy in the pursuit of policy objectives In part one this volume sheds light on the problems of non tariff barriers to trade that arise in various fields Part two focuses on regional integration with an emphasis on relations between East Asia and the European Union In this regard the authors outline the trade and investment relations between the European Union and East Asia including Japan Korea and Singapore Part three offers an overview of recent institutional developments in WIPO ICSID WTO and WTO jurisprudence Part four includes book reviews of recent works in the field of
