The Laboratory Zebrafish Carole Wilson, David Chu, 2024-11-25 This guide covers all aspects pertaining to the use of zebrafish including their basic biology, humane care and management, husbandry, life support systems, regulatory compliance, technical procedures, veterinary care and water quality management. The zebrafish is now a mainstream model animal employed by scientists to study everything from stem cells to the basis of behavioral changes induced by drug addiction. However, there are few accepted and established standards for husbandry, management and care for the fish in laboratory settings and even fewer comprehensive and constantly reliable resources. To this end, the goal of this handbook is to provide managers, veterinarians, investigators, technicians and regulatory personnel with a concise yet thorough reference on zebrafish biology, care, husbandry and management. The new edition includes more figures, tables and bullet points, a wealth of new full color images, major updates on health and welfare including colony health surveillance and viruses, and a complete overhaul of the compliance section to address more international concerns.

Freshwater and Marine Aquarium, 2001 Fish Farming Technology H. Reinersten, L.A. Dahle, L. Jorgensen, 2020-11-17 Over the past few years it has become more and more obvious that fish farming will become increasingly important in the future. As fish farming moves into its industrial phase, technology will be an important factor in determining its successful development. It is therefore important for scientists representatives from the aquaculture industry to meet to define state of the art and explore future development of fish farming technology for different fish species. 81 papers and abstracts were presented at the conference. The proceedings reflect the different sections of the conference: the plenum sessions and three parallel sessions: Juvenile marine fish, open production plants, closed production plants and poster sessions.

Rotifera IX La-Orsri Sanoamuang, Hendrik Segers, Russell J. Shiel, Ramesh D. Gulati, 2012-12-06. This volume is a record of the proceedings of the IXth International Rotifer Symposium which was held in Khon Kaen, Thailand, on January 16-23, 2000. The symposium was the first meeting of the international group of rotifer researchers held in Asia. The volume contains reviews and research papers dealing with diverse aspects of scientific research related to Rotifera and their ecology. Some of the topics addressed are taxonomy and zoogeography, ecology, phylogeny and evolution, physiology, biochemistry and population genetics, aquaculture and ecotoxicology. This book is special because it contains a unique compilation of contemporary rotifer-related research and is the eighth of a series of rotifer symposium proceedings published in Developments of Hydrobiology. This update of Rotifera studies will be of great interest to invertebrate zoologists, hydrobiologists, ecologists and aquaculturists, particularly those interested in freshwater habitats.

Invertebrates Marcelo Larramendy, Sonia Soloneski, 2016-02-10. This edited book Invertebrates: Experimental Models in Toxicity Screening is intended to provide an overview of the use of conventional and nonconventional invertebrate species as experimental models for the study of different toxicological aspects induced by environmental pollutants in both aquatic and terrestrial ecosystems. Furthermore, it is hoped that the information in the present book will be of value to those directly engaged in the handling and use of environmental pollutants and that this book will continue to meet the expectations and needs of all interested in the different aspects of toxicity screening.

Marine Plankton Claudia Castellani, Martin Edwards, 2017. A thorough understanding of planktonic organisms is the first step towards a real appreciation of the diversity, biology and ecological importance of marine life. A detailed knowledge of their distribution and community composition is particularly important since these organisms are often very delicate and sensitive to change and can be used as early indicators of environmental change. Natural and man-induced modification of the environment can affect both the distribution and composition of plankton with important ecological and economic impacts. Marine Plankton provides a practical guide to plankton biology with a large geographic coverage spanning the North Sea to the north-eastern Atlantic coast of the USA and Canada. The book is divided into three sections: an overview of plankton ecology, an assessment of methodology in plankton research covering sampling, preservation and counting of samples, and a taxonomic guide richly illustrated with detailed line drawings to aid identification. This is an essential reference text suitable for senior undergraduate and graduate students taking courses in marine ecology particularly useful for fieldwork as well as for professional marine biologists It will also be of relevance and use to environmental scientists conservation biologists marine resource managers environmental consultants and other specialised practitioners Manual on the Production and Use of Live Food for Aquaculture Patrick Lavens, Patrick Sorgeloos, 1996 The cultivation of fish and shellfish larvae under controlled hatchery conditions requires not only the development of specific culture techniques but in most cases also the production and use of live food organisms as feed for the developing larvae The present manual describes the major production techniques currently employed for the cultivation of the major types of live food commonly used in larviculture as well as their application potential in terms of their nutritional and physical properties and feeding methods The manual is divided into different sections according to the major groups of live food organisms used in aquaculture namely micro algae rotifers Artemia natural zooplankton and copepods nematodes and trochophores Periodicum Biologorum ,1998
