Investor Relations and Corporate Reporting Stefanie Paolini, 2008-06-17 Inhaltsangabe Introduction Nowadays deregulated and globalized financial markets force companies into competition for investors The challenges capital market oriented companies have to meet are increasing information needs of investors and rigid rules and regulations Well implemented and managed Investor Relations and Corporate Reporting activities that gain the trust of the financial market could assist in facing up to competition Financial and Corporate Reporting is all about communicating the long term strategic alignment quality and experience of the management as well as other factors that determine the value of the company e g a sustainable solid business development associated with a transparent corporate communication From investor s and analyst s points of view which are geared to a forward looking approach in case of an investment decision the information value of traditional and predominately retrospective financial statements encounters its limits The ambition of legislator and standard setter to make the group management report to a value and future oriented instrument is a signpost in the right direction The group management report should additionally facilitate estimates about the future development of the company by a stronger consideration of the management s view Numerous empirical studies provide evidence that the capital market is affected by imperfect and unequally distributed information asymmetric information distribution as well as by conflict of objective and interest between the management agent and shareholder principal Modern Investor Relations and Corporate Reporting activities go beyond the mere communication of facts and figures Investor Relations and Corporate Reporting reduce skepticism and create transparency by building up a direct relationship to the investor The present master thesis examines interdependencies between companies and investors as well as the organizational integration in the company s structure by means of scientific theories In addition a primary research of 10 DAX companies regarding their Investor Relations and Corporate Reporting activities ascertains how several communication measures are effectively applied in practice and how much importance companies attach to well managed capital market communication The survey reveals strengths and weaknesses of today s capital market communication and outlines future prospects of Corporate Reporting The present master

Corporate Responses to EU Emissions Trading Jon Birger Skjærseth, Per Ove Eikeland, 2016-05-13 The European Union EU aims to put Europe on track toward a low carbon economy In this striking challenge the EU Emissions Trading System EU ETS has been singled out as the Union s key climate policy instrument ultimately aimed as a model for a global carbon market The learning effect of the EU ETS could thus be tremendous This study explores how the EU ETS actually works on the ground affecting corporate climate strategies It covers general sector responses as well as systematic comparative studies of companies across the sectors The latter enables improved understanding of causal effects and the role of interaction between different policy instruments and other factors that impact corporate climate strategies The study explores a broad set of mechanisms at play potentially linking the EU ETS to company climate strategies These include how corporate norms of responsibility are affected by the EU ETS and how economic incentives provide opportunities for innovation The book s main contribution lies in its systematic examination of corporate responses to the EU ETS from a broad empirical and analytical social science perspective covering companies in all main EU ETS sectors electric power oil cement steel and pulp and paper Russian Energy Security and Foreign Policy Adrian Dellecker, Thomas Gomart, 2011-05-03 This book provides an original and thoroughly academic analysis of the link between Russian energy and foreign policies in Eurasia as well as offering an interpretation of Russia's coherence on the international stage seeking to understand Russia and explain its behaviour The authors analyse both energy and foreign policies together in order to better grasp their correlation and gain deeper understanding of broader geopolitical issues in Eurasia at a time when things could go either way towards producers or towards consumers Questioning the concept of energy deterrence which aims to fuel uncertainty in Russia's relations with its partners as well as projecting its overall power on the international scene this provocative volume seeks to stimulate debate on this very important issue Assessing the weight that energy has in Russia's foreign policy and in its pursuit of power on the international stage this book will be of interest to students and scholars of international relations energy politics geopolitics and Russian and Central Asian Studies Strategic Power Plant Investment Planning Under Fuel and Carbon Price Uncertainty Ansgar Geiger, 2014-08-20 The profitability of power plant investments depends strongly on uncertain fuel and carbon prices In this doctoral thesis we combine fundamental electricity market models with stochastic dynamic programming to evaluate power plant investments under uncertainty The application of interpolation based stochastic dynamic programming and approximate dynamic programming allows us to consider a greater variety of stochastic fuel and carbon price scenarios compared to other approaches Energy Prices, Fuel Poverty and Ofgem Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Business and Enterprise Committee, 2008 A report from the Business and Enterprise Committee that inquires into the effect of the Big 6 energy companies which include Npower Centrica EDF Energy Scottish Power and Scottish and Southern Energy all raising their prices between January and April 2008 It aims to feed into a separate inquiry being carried out by Ofgem Annual Report Tokyo Denryoku Kabushiki Kaisha, 2007 Government Reports Annual Index, 1993 Capacity Mechanisms in the EU Energy Market Leigh Hancher, Adrien de Hauteclocque, Malgorzata Sadowska, 2015-09-24 Ensuring an adequate long term energy supply is a paramount concern in Europe EU member states now intervene by encouraging investment in generation capacity offering an additional revenue stream for conventional power plants in addition to the existing heavily subsidised investments in renewable energy sources These capacity remuneration mechanisms or simply capacity mechanisms have become a hot topic in the wider European regulatory debate European electricity markets are increasingly interconnected so the introduction of a capacity mechanism in one country not only distorts its national market but may have unforeseeable consequences for neighbouring electricity markets If these mechanisms are adopted by several member states with no supra national coordination and no consideration for their cross border impact they may cause serious market distortions and put the future of the European internal electricity market at risk This book provides readers with an in depth analysis of capacity mechanisms written by an expert team of policy makers economists and legal professionals It will be a first point of reference for regulators and policy makers responsible for designing optimal capacity mechanisms in Europe and will be an invaluable resource for academics and practitioners in the fields of energy regulation and competition Global Sustainability Hans Joachim Schellnhuber,2010-02-18 Interdisciplinary exploration of the best scientific and political strategies to attain global sustainability from many Nobel Prize winning and other high profile authors HC 406 - Infrastructure Investment: The Impact on Consumer Bills Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts,2014-07 HM Treasury has identified more than 375 billion of planned investment in economic infrastructure that the UK needs to replace ageing assets replace assets which don't comply with EU regulation help meet policy commitments such as climate change targets support economic growth and meet the long term needs of a growing population Around two thirds of this investment is expected to be financed and delivered by private companies but paid for by consumers through utility bills and user charges such as rail fares Economic regulators set the frameworks within which private companies deliver this infrastructure and they have legal duties to protect consumers by for example promoting competition acting to prevent and address market abuses and in some cases setting the prices consumers can be charged Energy and water bills have risen considerably faster than incomes in recent years and high levels of new investment in infrastructure mean that bills and charges are likely to continue to rise significantly Furthermore poorer households spend more of their incomes on household bills relative to richer households meaning that funding infrastructure through bills is more regressive than doing so through taxation Currently consumers rely solely on Government and regulators to protect their interests However no one in Government is taking responsibility for assessing the overall impact of this investment on consumer bills and whether consumers will be able to afford to pay This is a particular concern given that the poorest households are hit hardest by increases in bills

IFRS Manual of Accounting 2009 ,2008 International Financial Reporting Standards IFRSs are being increasingly used by companies throughout the world All entities listed in the EU have been required to issue financial statements under IFRS since 2005 and more and more other countries are making the change to IFRS including the US and Canada The Manual is packed full of clear practical guidance on how to prepare financial statements in accordance with IFRS It includes hundreds of practical worked examples and extracts from company reports as well as model IFRS financial statements that help to illustrate the explanations and show exactly how even the most complex calculations and disclosures should be made Cover The EU's Decision Traps Gerda Falkner,2011-05-12 Fritz W Scharpf's renowned model of the joint decision trap suggests that the requirements of nearly unanimous decisions in the EU's Council of Ministers combined with conflicting preferences among member governments will systematically limit the problem solving effectiveness of European policies However certain conditions have significantly changed in the 25 years since the theory was first posited In particular the unanimity rule has been replaced by qualified majority voting in most issue areas and successive rounds of enlargement have augmented the diversity of member state interests and preferences This volume examines the continued relevance of the model It presents a comparative study on the differential politics in EU policies Looking at the political dynamics in an array of EU activities it analyses breakthroughs as well as stalemates and asks why leaps occur in some areas whilst blockages characterise others The dynamics that allow the EU to escape various forms of decision trap are analysed in depth including those suggested by rationalist theorists supranational hierarchical steering treaty base games and arena shifting and those suggested by constructivist approaches socialisation The volume concludes that when the EU is confronted with a high degree of problem pressure in a given issue area these mechanisms will often not be available because most remain outside politicians immediate grasp

America's Water and Wastewater Crisis Lewis D. Solomon, 2017-07-12 This book examines the role of private firms in the American water and wastewater industry As more water infrastructure shifts from public to private sector control vendors consultants and facilities are taking on more importance Lewis D Solomon presents an historical overview of water supply and treatment needs and the role of the government including how water policy has been crafted He argues that water scarcity is becoming a problem due to groundwater depletion contamination and patterns of consumption He examines the impact of climate change on water availability and quality considering voluntary conservation programs and mandatory restrictions for water use Solomon points to how for profit firms can use technology to increase water supply He describes what privatization would look like in practice and reviews evidence from two case studies Solomon proposes privatization as a viable response to America s water crisis that can address both scarcity and capital problems America s Water and Wastewater Crisis presents a careful examination of how the water industry has operated in the United States in the past and how it may work as we move into the future This book is invaluable to environmental specialists businessmen and government officials

Sustainability Innovations in the Electricity Sector Dorothea Jansen, Katrin Ostertag, Rainer Walz, 2011-09-18 The future of modern societies depends on their ability to deal with the challenge of climate change in the coming decades One essential component is a better understanding of innovation processes in the energy sector This book focuses on sustainability innovations in renewable energies combined heat and power and energy service contracting and analyses the institutions actors and functions within the innovation system Of particular interest is the question of whether the joint effect of EU driven market liberalization and climate policies will succeed in establishing market forces that will drive actors towards more climate friendly energy production A special focus is on the role of local utilities in the electricity sector as opposed to large transmission net operators or regional net operators The countries covered in the contributions include Germany Denmark the UK Switzerland and the Netherlands
