Biological terms: Interphase, Anaphase, Metaphase, Telophase, Collenchyma, phloem, Sclerenchyma, Parenchyma, cuticula, Transpirations, stomata, neuron, organic compound, connective tissue, chromatin, chromosome, foramen magnum, axial skeleton, cranium
Chemistry of life	Cells
Difference between organic and inorganic compounds	Difference between animal cell and plant cell
Examples of organic and inorganic compounds	All the cell organelles and functions/rolls
Monomers of all organic compound	Describe the build of the nucleus, mitochondria, and chloroplast
Elements of all the organic compounds	Investigation: Osmose and diffusion (Look at the apparatus that we use and how to set up this Investigation)
Vitamins A, B, C, D, and E, and there deficiency diseases they can cause	Explain osmose and diffusion
Enzymes
- Lock and key model
- Function of enzymes
Influence of temperature and pH on enzyme action
Mitosis	Plant tissue
All the phases can identify and give reasons for your answers	Build and function of: Collenchyma, Sclerenchyma, Parenchyma, Phloem, Xylem and stomata
Product of Mitosis	Definition of tissue
Difference between telophase in plant cells and animal cells
Biological importance of Mitosis
Cancer: - Uncontrolled cell division and growth: Causes and treatment of cancer Function and build of: Stomata, Xylem, and root hair
	Adaptions of Xylem for movement of water upwards
Animal tissue	Plant organs
Name and identify all the animal tissues and where in the human body are they located.	The labels and functions of the dorsiventral leaf.
Functions of all the animal tissues	Adaptions of the different parts of the leaf
Name all the connective tissues	Definition of an organ
Support and transport in plants	Support in animals
Labels of dicotyledonous stem and root	All the labels of the skeleton
Difference between a dicotyledons root and stem	Where do we find long bones in the skeleton
	Function of the skeleton
Investigation: The rate of transpirations (Potometer)

Dual-use life science research and biosecurity in the 21st Century: Social, Technical, Policy, and Ethical Challenges Jonathan E. Suk, Kathleen M. Vogel, Amanda Jane Ozin, 2015-06-04 In September 2011 scientists announced new experimental findings that would not only threaten the conduct and publication of influenza research but would have significant policy and intelligence implications The findings presented a modified variant of the H5N1 avian influenza virus hereafter referred to as the H5N1 virus that was transmissible via aerosol between ferrets These results suggested a worrisome possibility the existence of a new airborne and highly lethal H5N1 virus that could cause a deadly global pandemic In response a series of international discussions on the nature of dual use life science arose These discussions addressed the complex social technical political security and ethical issues related to dual use research This Research Topic will be devoted to contributions that explore this matrix of issues from a variety of case study and international perspectives

Towards an embodied science of intersubjectivity: Widening the scope of social understanding research Ezequiel Di Paolo, Hanne De Jaegher, 2015-06-16 An important amount of research effort in psychology and neuroscience over the past decades has focused on the problem of social cognition This problem is understood as how we figure out other minds relying only on indirect manifestations of other people s intentional states which are assumed to be hidden private and internal Research on this question has mostly investigated how individual cognitive mechanisms achieve this task A shift in the internalist assumptions regarding intentional states has expanded the research focus with hypotheses that explore the role of interactive phenomena and interpersonal histories and their implications for understanding individual cognitive processes. This interactive expansion of the conceptual and methodological toolkit for investigating social cognition we now propose can be followed by an expansion into wider and deeply related research questions beyond but including that of social cognition narrowly construed. Our social lives are populated by different kinds of cognitive and affective phenomena that are related to but not exhausted by the question of how we figure out other minds. These phenomena include acting and perceiving together, verbal and non verbal engagement, experiences of disconnection, management of relations in a group, joint meaning making, intimacy, trust, conflict, negotiation, asymmetric relations, material mediation of social interaction, collective action, contextual engagement with socio cultural norms, structures and roles etc. These phenomena are often characterized by a strong participation by the cognitive agent in contrast with the spectatorial stance typical of social cognition research. We use the broader notion of embodied intersubjectivity to refer to this wider set of phenomena. This Research Topic aims to investigate relations between these different issues to help lay strong foundations for a science of intersubjectivity, the social mind writ large. To contribute to this goal we encouraged contributions in psychology, neuroscience, psychopathology, philosophy and cognitive science that address this wider scope of intersubjectivity by extending the range of explanatory factors from purely individual to interactive, from observational to participatory.

The Global Practice of Forensic Science Douglas H. Ubelaker, 2015-02-16

The Global Practice of Forensic Science presents histories, issues, patterns and diversity in the applications of international forensic science. Written by 64 experienced and internationally recognized forensic scientists, the volume documents the practice of forensic science in 28 countries from Africa, the Americas, Asia, Australia and Europe. Each country's chapter explores factors of political history, academic linkages, the influence of individual cases, facility development, types of cases examined, integration within forensic science, recruitment, training, funding, certification, accreditation, quality control, technology, disaster preparedness, legal issues, research and future directions. Aimed at all scholars interested in international forensic science, the volume provides detail on the diverse fields within forensic science and their applications around the world.

How Pop Culture Shapes the Stages of a Woman's Life Melissa Ames, Sarah Burcon, 2016-03-15

Contemporary popular culture has created a slew of stereotypical roles for girls and women to willingly or not play throughout their lives: The Princess, the Nymphet, the Diva, the Single Girl, the Bridezilla, the Tiger Mother, the MILF, the Cougar and more. In this book Ames and Burcon investigate the role of cultural texts in gender socialization at specific prescribed stages of a woman's life from girls to the golden girls and how that instruction compounds over time. By studying various texts, toys, magazines, blogs, tweets, television shows, Hollywood films, novels and self help books, they argue that popular culture exists as a type of funhouse mirror, constantly distorting the real world conditions that exist for women, magnifying the gendered expectations they face. Despite the many problematic, conflicting messages women receive throughout their lives this book also showcases the ways such messages are resisted allowing women to move past the blurry reality they broadcast and toward hopefully gender equality

Religious Perspectives on Social Responsibility in Health

Joseph Tham,Chris Durante,Alberto García Gómez,2018-04-26 This book discuss the meaning and implications of the social and ethical implications of the notion of social responsibility in healthcare in six major world religions Buddhism Christianity Confucianism Hinduism Islam Judaism This collection of papers is based on a four day workshop where bioethics experts from various religious traditions gathered They discussed the ways in which their respective traditions could or could not uphold the tenets of Article 14 of UNESCO s Universal Declaration of bioethics and Human Rights The different papers presented in this book are based on this interchange of ideas at the workshop The book explores the potential points of convergence among the various perspectives presented as well as a discussion on the ways in which their moral differences may be managed The managing of these moral differences through international socio ethical mechanisms contributes significantly to the UNESCO Universal Declaration of Bioethics and Human Rights goal of simultaneously respecting religio cultural pluralism while upholding a commitment to human rights

The Cambridge Handbook of Information

Technology, Life Sciences and Human Rights Marcello Ienca,Oreste Pollicino,Laura Liguori,Elisa Stefanini,Roberto Andorno,2022-05-26 Debates on the human rights implications of new and emerging technologies have been hampered by the lack of a comprehensive theoretical framework for the complex issues involved This volume provides that framework bringing a multidisciplinary and international perspective to the evolution of human rights in the digital and biotechnological era It delves into the latest frontiers of technological innovation in the life sciences and information technology sectors such as neurotechnology robotics genetic engineering and artificial intelligence Leading experts from the technological medical and social sciences as well as law philosophy and business share their extensive knowledge about the transformation of the rights framework in response to technological innovation In addition to providing a comprehensive interdisciplinary and international state of the art descriptive analysis the volume also offers policy recommendations to protect and promote human rights in the context of emerging socio technological trends
