Reis,Joseph S. Renzulli,Deborah E. Burns,2021-09-03 Curriculum compacting is one of the most well researched and commonly used ways of differentiating instruction to challenge advanced learners This practical and inexpensive method of differentiating both content and instruction enables classroom teachers to streamline the regular curriculum ensure students mastery of basic skills and provide time for stimulating enrichment and acceleration activities With information on the history and rationale of curriculum compacting as well as successful implementation strategies and multiple case studies the second edition of Curriculum Compacting introduces the strategies that teachers need to understand to implement this differentiation strategy for high potential highly motivated and academically talented and gifted students 2017 NAGC Book of the Year Award Winner Improving Social Studies Instruction National Education Association of the United States. Research Division,1937 High-Poverty, High-Performing Schools Ovid K. Wong,2011-12-16 In a recent international comparative study the United States public schools did not fare well with the rest of the world To the disappointment of many the No Child Left Behind law did little to improve student achievement Nevertheless a small pocket of poverty schools worked against the odds of limited resources and performed to new heights of academic excellence These high poverty high performing schools were studied to identify the common trends and to reveal their secrets of success The secrets include a unique combination of leadership curriculum instruction assessment and evaluation Can the high poverty high performing schools be the success model of our next generation schools As concerned citizens and stakeholders of education we need to find out how our country can get back on track to become an educational leader again so we may compete in the fierce global economy Catalog of Copyright Entries.
