WORKSHEET

Global Population Distribution

Global population distribution shows where people live across the world. It is influenced by physical and human factors.

Key Points

- The world's population is unevenly distributed across the globe.
- The majority of the world's population lives in the Northern Hemisphere.
- The majority of the world's population lives in the coastal regions.
- The majority of the world's population lives in the low-lying areas.
- The majority of the world's population lives in the areas with high accessibility.

Population Density and Distribution

Some areas of the world are densely populated (crowded), while others are sparsely populated (empty). This is due to physical and human factors.

Factors influencing population density are physical and human.

Physical factors include climate, land use, water, soil, topography, and vegetation. Human factors include economic activities, services, and accessibility.

Extension: How do you think physical and human factors influence population density in your area?
