

Graduation Welcome Speech – June 2010

It is my pleasure to welcome families, friends, teachers, and our younger students to graduation day at Wilmington Montessori School.

Earlier this morning, I spoke to you and your families at breakfast. Now, I speak to you as the graduates. I don't know if you all have noticed, but there has been an air of excitement in the halls of Wilmington Montessori for the past week – an excitement that began to peak yesterday when your posters went up in the lobby, graduation practice began, we had our last all school assembly and we all began to listen to Kelly practicing the music for today in the gym. There is excitement in the air and it is all about each of you. This entire school community – your teachers, your parents, grandparents, Aunts and Uncles, and brothers and sisters are so very proud of you today.

I would like to thank each of you for all you have brought to WMS during your time here, many of you since you were only a year or so old. You have brought energy to the school with the complex challenge of managing all aspects of school administration Parents and Families of Students With Special Needs Vicki A. McGinley, Melina Alexander, SAGE Publications, Inc., 2017-01-05 Parents and Families of Students With Special Needs Collaborating Across the Age Span teaches students the skills they need to effectively collaborate with parents and families to ensure a child's success in the classroom. The text takes a lifespan approach with a special emphasis on the critical transition points in a child's life. Information is provided on what can be seen at each stage of an individual with disabilities' development and addresses the concerns and needs that families may have during these unique phases of growth. The authors provide an in-depth discussion of how parents and families are affected by particular disabilities, family system theory, the laws that affect individuals with disabilities, and assessments for individuals with disabilities. Chapters written by academics and professionals who are also parents of students with special needs bring a diverse range of voices into the narrative.

Community College Leadership Pamela L. Eddy, 2023-07-03 Two-year colleges are facing major change. The majority will undergo a turnover in college presidencies in the next ten years at a time when they are being asked to be engines for economic growth, enable more students, and a greater diversity of students to gain 21st-century qualifications and provide a pathway to higher degrees, all with reduced state and local funding. Recognizing that future community college leaders at all levels will manage increasingly complex organizations and face very different challenges than their predecessors, this book provides a multidimensional model of leadership suited to these new demands and environments. The model addresses issues of leader cognition, race, and gender; the importance of culture; and the need for more collaborative modes of communication and decision making to frame and implement change. It recognizes that there is no longer any one way to lead and that the next generation of leaders will be more diverse, possess experience and qualifications from a wider variety of careers, and follow new pathways to their positions. Leaders in the future will possess a cultural competency that is fostered by being lifelong learners. Through over 75 individual interviews with leaders and campus members, Eddy is able to provide examples of the model's components in practice and to illuminate which experiences proved the most relevant for these leaders on their route to upper administration. She shows how her model intersects with the leadership competencies defined by the American Association of Community Colleges and proposes strategies for future leadership development. This book is intended for anyone considering a leadership position at any level in a community college, for college administrators and boards responsible for leadership development programs, and for individuals in corresponding organizations who conduct training programs for aspiring leaders. Likewise, those employed at four-year universities may find value in the model as a developmental tool.
