Nurturing the Souls of Our Children Robert Mitchell,2005 The Sin of Obedience is one of the few works of fiction or non fiction that looks profoundly and with deep personal reflection into the training of a Catholic priest The novel rich and accurate in detail is the story of a young prodigy torn with between the rigid religious traditions and convictions of his mother and the more humanity oriented respect for freedom of his father Building on his own experiences including being the subject of sexual abuse by a seminary teacher the author unfolds a picture of religious life in which the cornerstones of celibacy and a vow of obedience have forced seminarians and priests to make difficult and often impossible decisions in their own personal lives This well crafted story enables the reader to go along with a young boy seminarian and priest on his idealistic pursuit and mission and the consequences he has to face as a result Burning All Illusions David Edwards,1996 This is a book about freedom Above all about the idea that there is often no greater obstacle to freedom than the assumption that it has already been attained What prison after all could be more secure than that deemed to be the world where boundaries of action and thought are assumed to define not the limits of the permissible but the limits of the possible In the past we have been prisoners of tyrants and dictators and consequently have needed to win our freedom in very concrete physical terms We now need to free ourselves not from a slave ship or a concentration camp but from many of the illusions fostered in our democratic society A wise and acute analysis of the way our minds are controlled not in a totalitarian state but in a democratic one Edwards also suggests how we can escape this control in a self help book which unlike other books of this genre connects our inner world of alienation with the world outside Howard Zinn A treatise on what freedom truly means Burning All Illusions is an important philosophical and psychology text that should be on every political science curriculum reading list Wisconsin Book Watch
