Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights,1974 Race War! Gerald Horne,2005-11-01 Japan s lightning march across Asia during World War II was swift and brutal Nation after nation fell to Japanese soldiers How were the Japanese able to justify their occupation of so many Asian nations And how did they find supporters in countries they subdued and exploited Race War delves into submerged and forgotten history to reveal how European racism and colonialism were deftly exploited by the Japanese to create allies among formerly colonized people of color Through interviews and original archival research on five continents Gerald Horne shows how race played a key and hitherto ignored role in each phase of the war During the conflict the Japanese turned white racism on its head portraying the war as a defense against white domination in the Pacific We learn about the reverse racial hierarchy practiced by the Japanese internment camps in which whites were placed at the bottom of the totem pole under the supervision of Chinese Korean and Indian guards an embarrassing example of racial payback that was downplayed by the defeated Japanese and the humiliated Europeans and Euro Americans Focusing on the microcosmic example of Hong Kong but ranging from colonial India to New Zealand and the shores of the U S Gerald Horne radically retells the story of the war From racist U S propaganda to Black Nationalist open support of Imperial Japan information about the effect of race on U S and British policy is revealed for the first time This revisionist account of the war draws connections between General Tojo Malaysian freedom fighters and Elijah Muhammed of the Nation of Islam and shows how white racism encouraged and enabled Japanese imperialism In sum Horne demonstrates that the retreat of white supremacy was not only driven by the impact of the Cold War and the energized militancy of Africans and African Americans but by the impact of the Pacific War as well as a chastened U S and U K moved vigorously after this conflict to remove the conditions that made Japan s success possible

Project Reports of the National Institute of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice ,1971 Deadly Force Tom S. Clark,Adam Glynn,Michael Leo Owens,2025-06-03 A deep exploration of police shootings in America informed by the most comprehensive data yet assembled on notoriously non transparent topic As much attention as police violence has garnered in recent years one central frustration has stymied attempts to understand exactly what is happening why and to whom the lack of data on use of force This project pulls together the results of a massive data gathering project on police shootings from all US cities with over 100 000 people The authors use this information to answer pressing questions and reveal much needed insight around police shootings in America today The authors explore first why it is so difficult to get good data on police shootings and provide fascinating and troubling details on the difficulty and sometimes impossibility of getting records from police departments and what strategies are needed to put together nation wide numbers that are complete as possible They then turn to central questions and their answers pointing out surprising insights as they go In exploring how many officer involved shootings happen in a city for instance they find that oversight boards and the political orientation of city leadership have little impact but that the size of the police force does And intriguingly as one considers movements to defund the police they find police shootings are highest in cities with under resourced officers indicating that some efforts to defang forces may have the opposite effect Later chapters look at where within cities shootings happen the demographics of victims and the fatality rate of shootings The authors end the book by considering what these new data tell us about how to decrease the frequency and deadliness of armed actions by American police
