Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were 15 women, 40 to 50 years of age, who were sedentary and had no cardiovascular or pulmonary disease. The subjects were randomly assigned to a 10-week training program or a control group. The training program consisted of three sessions per week of aerobic exercise at 60% of maximum HR. The control group consisted of 15 women who did not exercise. The subjects were monitored for HR and EE during the training program and at the end of the 10-week period. The results of the study showed that the training program had a significant effect on HR and EE. The HR of the training group decreased significantly from 160 to 140 beats per minute, and the EE of the training group increased significantly from 1,200 to 1,400 kcal per day. The control group showed no significant change in HR or EE. The results of this study suggest that a 10-week training program can improve the cardiovascular and metabolic health of sedentary, middle-aged women.

- Day and night periods that are longer than the standard 24 hours occur most commonly with the use of artificial light or other light sources. To avoid this, there are two things the producer should do:
 - 1. Turn off the lights at the end of the day.
 - 2. Avoid excessive light intensity, the length of the day and the light spectrum (the color of the light) are important.
- The end of the day is the best time to change the light spectrum. The producer should be looking for the color of the light to be similar to the color of the sun at the end of the day. The light should be similar to the color of the sun at the end of the day. The light should be similar to the color of the sun at the end of the day.

When you post a job, you'll have the opportunity to respond to questions from potential applicants. You can also post a question to the community if you need help with a problem or want to share a tip.

- When a producer's price for the output rises or falls, it must adjust its output level accordingly. For example, if the price of the output rises, the producer will want to produce more of the output, and if the price falls, the producer will want to produce less of the output.
