Oxford Successful Social Sciences Jean Bottaro, Liz Dilley, Sue Cohen, Pippa Visser, 2005      Oxford Successful Social Sciences, 2013      Oxford Successful Social Sciences Jean Bottaro, 2006      Textbooks and War Eugenia Roldán Vera, Eckhardt Fuchs, 2018-10-04 This volume reflects on the role played by textbooks in the complex relationship between war and education from a historical and multinational perspective asking how textbook content and production can play a part in these processes It has long been established that history textbooks play a key role in shaping the next generation's understanding of both past events and the concept of friend and foe Considering both current and historical textbooks often through a bi-national comparative approach the editors and contributors investigate various important aspects of the relationships between textbooks and war including the role wars play in the creation of national identities whether the country is on the winning or losing side the effacement of international wars to highlight a country's exceptionalism or the obscuring of intra-national conflict through the ways in which a civil war is portrayed This pioneering book will be of interest and value to students and scholars of textbooks educational media and the relationships between curricula and war

States and the Making of Others Jeanne Bouyat, Amandine Le Bellec, Lucas Puygrenier, 2024-06-17 This volume offers a unique interdisciplinary and comparative perspective on contemporary processes of othering by state institutions in relation to dynamics of racism xenophobia sexism homo transphobia as well as ethnic and class based discriminations It focuses on eight original case studies empirically grounded in various domains of the social state in Southern African and Western European contexts the education and health care systems the regulation of work and of procreation rights and institutions in charge of granting asylum The authors provide key insights on how states produce Others and on how othering contributes in turn to the process of state formation and the politicization of public action      Whose History Counts June Bam, Lungisile Ntsebeza, Allan Zinn, 2018-11-29 Originally planned as a fact based book on the pre colonial history of the Eastern Cape in the true tradition of history this ground breaking book focuses on epistemological and foundational questions about the writing of history and whose history counts Whose History Counts challenges the very concept of pre colonial and explores methodologies on researching and writing history The reason for this dramatic change of focus is attributed in the introduction of the book to the student led rebellion that erupted following the RhodesMustFall campaign which started at the University of Cape Town on 9 March 2015 Key to the rebellion was the students opposition to what they dubbed colonial education and a clamour for among others a decolonised curriculum This book is a direct response to this clarion call

The Mismanagement of Talent Phillip Brown, Anthony Hesketh, Sara Williams, 2004-07-29 The knowledge economy conjures a world of smart people in smart jobs doing smart things in smart ways for smart money a world increasingly open to all rather than a few Glossy corporate brochures present a future in challenging exciting and financially rewarding jobs for the winners in the competition for fast track management appointments They also convey an image of enlightened employers actively seeking to diversify their talent pool reflected in their approach to identifying hiring and retaining outstanding talent. We are told that the challenge confronting governments around the world is to enhance the employability of the workforce. Every effort must be made to expand access to higher education, dismantle barriers to talent regardless of social circumstances, gender or skin colour, and to harness human creativity and enterprise to meet the demands of the new economy. The Mismanagement of Talent comes to a different conclusion. Those leaving the world of mass higher education find themselves in a scramble for jobs with rising stakes for the winners and losers. The Mismanagement of Talent examines what determines the outcome of this race when a degree loses its badge of distinction. It shows how some graduates are playing the game to win a competitive advantage and what really happens in the selection events of leading edge employers. It also argues that talent is being mismanaged by employers that have yet to come to terms with the realities and possibilities of mass higher education. The Mismanagement of Talent will be thought provoking and controversial reading for those involved in the recruitment of graduates and those concerned with the way knowledge based firms recruit and the impact of higher education policy. Professionals working in university careers services, HRM training or recruitment generally, Researchers, academics or students of Business and Management, Human Resource Management, Public Policy, Education or Sociology and Job candidates themselves, the players and purists described in the book.
