

SNOWBALL

BY SHEL SILVERSTEIN

I made myself a snowball
As perfect as could be.
I thought I'd keep it as a pet
And let it sleep with me.
I made it some pajamas
And a pillow for its head.
Then last night it ran away,
But first it wet the bed.

that influenced the production and reception of poets and poetry in this country Rubin recovers the experiences of ordinary people reading poems in public places We see the recent immigrant seeking acceptance the schoolchild eager to be integrated into the class the mourner sharing grief at a funeral the grandparent trying to bridge the generation gap all instances of readers remaking texts to meet social and personal needs Preserving the moral romantic and sentimental legacies of the nineteenth century the act of reading poems offered cultural continuity spiritual comfort and pleasure Songs of Ourselves is a unique history of literary texts as lived experience By blurring the boundaries between high and popular poetry as well as between modern and traditional it creates a fuller more democratic way of studying our poetic language and ourselves
