

Calculating pH

How will it be used for the concentration differences here?

Why?

As buffers and other substances control pH in organisms, it is important to understand the ability of buffers to resist change. This property is called buffering capacity and is usually expressed as millimoles per litre of buffer that will accept or donate 1 mol H^+ or OH^- per mole of buffer. The amount that a buffer will accept or donate is called its buffering capacity. Buffers are the substances that resist change in pH when acids or bases are added to them.
