Act 2: Personal Response & Review Guide

the first depicting Juliet that he has been asked for "Queen Mab," "the fairest child" who "sits in a lap of couch" made of "empty husks" and who "presents" them to their "displeased" senses. "Mab" is the spirit of sleeping women. In this way, Romeo's his imagination and vivid imagination to present Romeo and Juliet's love through Queen Mab. Mercutio notices that Romeo is dreaming about Juliet's face, where there are many other beautiful women. Furthermore, when the equally witty nurse comes to visit the Romeo's balcony in act II, scene IV, Mercutio teases with her.

While Mercutio has a playful and witty side, he is also an honest, loyal, and different character. His relationship is complicated with the Montagues and especially Romeo. In the marketplace brawl earlier in act II, scene I, Mercutio grows frustrated when Romeo refuses to fight the Capulet enemy, Tybalt. He swiftly takes Romeo's place and duels with Tybalt. His sudden and ironic death results in his death—Romeo steps in to stop the fight, and Tybalt fatally strikes Mercutio under Romeo's arm. At the end, Mercutio wishes "a plague on both your houses," illustrating his ever-changing nature and his capacity for both loyalty as well as revenge.

Act 2: Personal Response Questions

Writing activities for students' opinions and may vary. The commenting below sheet, if helpful, guides you to constructively respond to students' opinions / engagement with the text:

1. Mercutio and Romeo have different views of love. Whose did you agree with more? Explain fully.

Romeo's view of love:

Romeo is one of the titular characters in Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet. He is a young man. He is the only son of Lord and Lady Montague, noble of Verona. Although not rigid, he is also sensitive, impulsive, and very kind. His love story throughout the play is true, though not necessarily the most ideal. He is often the subject of his friends' jokes, but he is not discouraged by the idea of love. Although he looks like he is serious about his friends, he enjoys joking with them, especially Mercutio. He is very friendly and double entendre, and he gets very easily in and out of his romantic feelings.

At the start of the play, Romeo's friends notice that he is not acting like himself. They want to know that Romeo is serious. He is usually in love with Rosaline, a character never being seen.
