International Law in Public Debate Madelaine Chiam, 2021-12-09 Public debates in the language of international law have occurred across the 20th and 21st centuries and have produced a popular form of international law that matters for international practice This book analyses the people who used international law and how they used it in debates over Australia's participation in the 2003 Iraq War the Vietnam War and the First World War It examines texts such as newspapers parliamentary debates public protests and other expressions of public opinion It argues that these interventions produced a form of international law that shares a vocabulary and grammar with the expert forms of that language and distinct competences in order to be persuasive This longer history also illustrates a move from the use of international legal language as part of collective justifications to the use of international law as an autonomous justification for state action The Veiled Sceptre Anne Twomey,2018-04-12 This book is a comprehensive review and analysis of the reserve powers and their exercise by heads of state in countries that have Westminster systems It addresses the powers of the Queen in the United Kingdom those of her vice regal representatives and those of heads of state in the less studied realms and former colonies that are now republics Drawing on a vast range of previously unpublished archival and primary material The Veiled Sceptre contains fresh perspectives on old controversies It also reveals constitutional crises in small countries which have escaped the notice of most scholars This book places the exercises of reserve powers within the context of constitutional principle and analyses how heads of state should act when constitutional principles conflict Providing an unrivalled contemporary analysis of reserve powers it will appeal to constitutional scholars worldwide and others involved in the administration of systems of responsible government

Commonwealth Responsibility and Cold War Solidarity Dan Halvorson,2019-01-01 Australia's engagement with Asia from 1944 until the late 1960s was based on a sense of responsibility to the United Kingdom and its Southeast Asian colonies as they navigated a turbulent independence into the British Commonwealth The circumstances of the early Cold War decades also provided for a mutual sense of solidarity with the non communist states of East Asia with which Australia mostly enjoyed close relationships From 1967 into the early 1970s however Commonwealth Responsibility and Cold War Solidarity demonstrates that the framework for this deep Australian engagement with its region was progressively eroded by a series of compounding external factors the 1967 formation of ASEAN and its consolidation by the mid 1970s as the premier regional organisation surpassing the Asian and Pacific Council ASPAC Britain's withdrawal from East of Suez Washington's de escalation and gradual withdrawal from Vietnam after March 1968 the 1969 Nixon doctrine that America's Asia Pacific allies must take up more of the burden of providing for their own security and US rapprochement with China in 1972 The book shows that these profound changes marked the start of Australia's political distancing from the region during the 1970s despite the intentions efforts and policies of governments from Whitlam onwards to foster deeper engagement By 1974 Australia had been pushed to the margins of the region with its engagement premised on a broadening but shallower transactional basis The Seven Dwarfs and the Age of the Mandarins Samuel Furphy,2015-07-06 In the history and folklore of Australia's Commonwealth Public Service the idea of the Seven Dwarfs has been remarkably persistent Originally a witty epithet applied to a powerful group of senior public servants the term has come to represent the professionalisation of Australian government administration during the Second World War and post war reconstruction era and into the following two decades of expansion This was a period when for the first time talented university graduates entered the public service rose to senior levels and exerted great influence over the affairs of the Commonwealth With the secure tenure of being permanent heads of departments they defined the age of the public service mandarin This book explores the lives and influence of the Seven Dwarfs and their colleagues bringing together the leading researchers on post war Australian administration Featuring four thematic chapters and ten biographical portraits it offers a fascinating insight into the workings of the Commonwealth Public Service during a critical period in its history

The Crown and Constitutional Reform Cris Shore, Sally Raudon, David V Williams, 2020-09-10 The Crown and Constitutional Reform is an innovative interdisciplinary exchange between experts in law anthropology and politics about the Crown constitutional monarchy and the potential for constitutional reform in Commonwealth common law countries The constitutional foundation of many Commonwealth countries is the Crown an icon of ultimate authority at once familiar yet curiously enigmatic Is it a conceptual placeholder for the state a symbol of sovereignty or does its ambiguity make it a shapeshifter a legal fiction that can be deployed as an expedient mask for executive power and convenient instrument for undermining democratic accountability This volume offers a novel interdisciplinary exchange the contributors analyse how the Crown operates in the United Kingdom and the postcolonial settler societies of Canada Australia and New Zealand In doing so they examine fundamental theoretical questions about statehood sovereignty constitutionalism and postcolonial reconciliation As Queen Elizabeth II's long reign approaches its end questions about the Crown's future its changing forms and meanings the continuing value of constitutional monarchy and its potential for reform gain fresh urgency The chapters in this book were originally published in a special issue of The Round Table The Commonwealth Journal of International Affairs

International Status in the Shadow of Empire Cait Storr, 2020-09-17 Nauru is often figured as an anomaly in the international order This book offers a new account of Nauru's imperial history and examines its significance to the histories of international law Drawing on theories of jurisdiction and bureaucracy it reconstructs four shifts in Nauru's status from German protectorate to League of Nations C Mandate to UN Trust Territory to sovereign state as a means of redescribing the transition from the nineteenth century imperial order to the twentieth century state system The book argues that as international status shifts imperial form accretes as Nauru's status shifted what occurred at the local level was a gradual process of bureaucratisation Two conclusions emerge from this argument The first is that imperial administration in Nauru produced the Republic's post independence failures The second is that international recognition of sovereign status is best understood as marking a beginning not an end of the process of decolonisation

Preparing a Nation? Brad Underhill, 2024-08-22 Preparing a Nation based on extensive archival research addresses perennial questions of Australian colonialism in Papua New Guinea To what extent did Australia prepare Papua New Guinea for independence And what were the policies and the ideologies behind colonial development implemented after World War II A key innovation of this book is to take these questions from policy desks in Canberra and Port Moresby to the villages of four administrative areas Chimbu Milne Bay Sepik and New Hanover How successful were Australian colonial planners in designing and implementing programs that could ameliorate the potential harm of market capitalism and develop new socioeconomic structures that would combine a disparate people into an imagined community capable of becoming an independent nation state in the far distant future Colonial intention is contrasted with Indigenous experience Bradley Underhill explores an Australian governmental tendency to prioritise colonial control over Indigenous autonomy in circumstances where subjugated people do not necessarily fit within an expected narrative of compliant or westernised native I expect it will become the standard reference for its subject which covers a pivotal aspect of Australia's colonial administration Bill Gammage

Clio's Lives Doug Munro, John G. Reid, 2017-10-09 Including contributions from leading scholars in the field from both Australia and North America this collection explores diverse approaches to writing the lives of historians and ways of assessing the importance of doing so Beginning with the writing of autobiographies by historians the volume then turns to biographical studies both of historians whose writings were in some sense nation defining and those who may be regarded as having had a major influence on defining the discipline of history The final section explores elements of collective biography linking these to the formation of historical networks A concluding essay by Barbara Caine offers a critical appraisal of the study of historians' biographies and autobiographies to date and maps out likely new directions for future work Clio's Lives is a very good scholarly collection that advances the study of autobiography and biography within the writing of history itself taking theoretical questions in significant new directions The contributors are well known and highly respected in the history profession and write with an insight and intellectual energy that will ensure the book has considerable impact They examine cutting edge issues about the writing of history at the personal level through autobiography and biography in diverse and innovative ways Together the writers have provided reflective chapters that will be widely read for their impressive theoretical advances as well as being inspirational for new entrants to the disciplinary area Patricia Grimshaw University of Melbourne Clio's Lives brings together a most interesting and varied cast of contributors Its chapters contain sophisticated and well penned ruminations on the uses of biography and autobiography among historians These are clearly connected with the general themes of the volume This delightfully mixed bag makes very good reading and as well will serve as a substantial contribution to the study of the biography and autobiography Eric Richards Flinders University

Ministers, Mandarins And Diplomats Joan Beaumont, Christopher Waters, David Lowe, 2013-06-14 In the three decades from the beginning of World War II Australia emerged on the world stage as an independent actor in foreign affairs The key institution overseeing the development of Australia's international status and foreign policy during that period was the Department of External Affairs This stimulating collection of essays explores the history of this government department as it grew from being a small amateur bureaucratic player to become a professional global network This book sheds new light on the major figures in Australian international history H V Evatt Percy Spender Richard Casey Garfield Barwick and Paul Hasluck and their relationships with their senior bureaucratic advisers The experiences of Australian diplomats as they joined the Department of External Affairs as junior recruits and worked overseas are also examined Ministers Mandarins and Diplomats tells the story of the people the events and the ideas that shaped Australian foreign policy and gave Australia its identity in the eyes of the rest of the world

Life's a Hoot James Harwood, John J. Coe, 2004 Colonial Violence and Monuments in Global History Cynthia C. Prescott, Janne Lahti, 2023-08-29 This book tackles the historical relationship between colonial violence and monuments in Africa Europe the Indian subcontinent North America and Australia In this volume the authors ask similar questions about monuments in each location and answer them following a parallel structure that encourages comparison highlighting common themes The chapters track the contested histories of monuments scrutinizing their narrative power and examining the violent events behind them It is both about the history of monuments and the histories the monuments are meant to commemorate It is interested in this nuanced relationship between violence monuments memory and colonial legacies the ways different facets of colonial violence conquest resistance massacres genocides internments and injustices have been commemorated or haven't been how they live in the present and how pertinent they are in the present to different peoples Legacies of colonial violence and continued reinterpretations of the past and its meanings remain very much ongoing They are still very much unsettled questions in large parts of the world Colonial Violence and Monuments in Global History will be essential reading for students scholars and researchers of political science history sociology and colonial studies The book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Genocide Research Menzies at War Anne Henderson, 2014-07-01 In the months following his resignation as PM in late August 1941 Menzies swayed between relief at his release from the burdens of office as PM and despair that his life at the top had come to so little Many followers of Australian political history including Liberal party supporters forget that Robert Menzies had many years in the political wilderness not knowing he would end up being Australia's longest serving prime minister This book focuses on the period between 1941 when Menzies lost the prime ministership to 1949 when he regained it In the interim he travelled around the world spending an extended time in Britain during World War II set up the Liberal Party and the author argues developed the leadership qualities that made him so successful Anne Henderson refers to this time as his real political bleeding

Australia and the World Joan Beaumont, Matthew Jordan, 2013-05-20 Australia and the World celebrates the pioneering role of Neville Meaney in the formation and development of foreign relations history in Australia and his profound influence on its study teaching and application History Wars Doug Munro, 2021-10-21 In 1993 Manning Clark came under severe posthumous attack in the pages of Quadrant by none other than Peter Ryan who had published five of the six volumes of Clark's epic A History of Australia In applying what he called an overdue axe to a tall poppy Ryan lambasted the History as an imposition on Australian credulity and declared its author a fraud both as a historian and a person This unprecedented public assault by a publisher on his best selling author was a sensation at the time and remains lodged in the public memory In History Wars Doug Munro forensically examines the right and wrongs of Ryan's allegations concluding that Clark was more sinned against than sinning and that Ryan repeatedly misrepresented the situation More than just telling a story Munro places the Ryan Clark controversy within the context of Australia's History Wars This book is an illuminating saga of that ongoing contest James Curran University of Sydney The Ryan Clark controversy speaks to the place of Manning Clark in Australia's national imagination Had Ryan taken his axe to another historian it's unlikely that we would be still talking about it 30 years later But Clark was the author and keeper of Australia's national story however imperfect his scholarship and however blinkered that story Few if any historians in the Anglo American world have occupied the space that Clark occupied by dint of will force of personality and felicity of pen Donald Wright University of New Brunswick Australia in the Age of International Development, 1945-1975 Nicholas Ferns, 2020-07-18 This book examines Australian colonial and foreign aid policy towards Papua New Guinea and Southeast Asia in the age of international development 1945-1975 During this period the academic and political understandings of development consolidated and informed Australian attempts to provide economic assistance to the poorer regions to its north Development was central to the Australian colonial administration of PNG as well as its Colombo Plan aid in Asia In addition to examining Australia's perception of international development this book also demonstrates how these debates and policies informed Australia's understanding of its own development This manifested itself most clearly in Australia's behavior at the 1964 United Nations Conference on Trade and Development UNCTAD The book concludes with a discussion of development and Australian foreign aid in the decade leading up to Papua New Guinea's independence achieved in 1975 Violations of Trust Richard Hil, 2017-05-15 The past few decades have brought to light increasing evidence of systemic and repeated institutional abuse of children and young people in many western nations Government enquiries research studies and media reports have begun to highlight the widespread nature of sexual physical and emotional abuse of vulnerable children and young people However while public attention has focused on episodic dramatic representations of institutional abuse comparatively little emphasis has been given to the more mundane routinized and systemic nature of abuse that has occurred This book documents comprehensively a full range of abuse occurring in caring and protective institutions with particular reference to the Australian case The dominant theme is betrayal and in particular the ways in which agencies charged with the care and protection of children and young people become the sites of abusive practices The authors draw on a range of theoretical frameworks to explore issues of trust and betrayal in the context of the professional and ethical obligations which workers have to those in their charge The authors argue that it is not sufficient merely to report on accounts of institutional abuse or the consequences of particular practices rather it is necessary to locate the prevalence of institutional abuse in the wider context of institutional practices as they relate to the governance of particular sections of the population Fantastic Dreaming Jane Lydon, 2009-04-16 Fantastic Dreaming explores how whites have measured Australian Aboriginal people through their material culture and domestic practices aspects of culture intimately linked to Enlightenment notions of progress and social institutions such as marriage and property Archaeological investigation reveals that the Moravian missionaries attempts to civilize the Wergaia speaking people of northwestern Victoria centered on spatial practices housing and the consumption of material goods After the mission closed in 1904 white observers saw the camp settlements that formed nearby as evidence of Aboriginal incapacity and immorality rather than as symptoms of exclusion and poverty Conceptions of transformation as acculturation survived in assimilation policies that envisioned Aboriginal people becoming the same as whites through living in European housing These ideas persist in archaeological analysis that insists on Aboriginality as otherness and difference and equates objects with identity However Wergaia tradition was place based and often invisibly Indigenous people maintained traditional relationships to kin and country resisting white authority through strategies of evasion and mobility This study examines the complex role of material culture and spatial politics in shaping colonial identities and offers a critique of essentialism in archaeological interpretation
