Happiness 101 (previously published as When Likes Aren't Enough) Tim Bono, 2025-05-01 Are you as authentically happy as your social media profiles make it seem When a group of researchers asked young adults around the globe what their number one priority was in life the top answer was happiness Not success fame money looks or love but happiness For a rising generation of young adults raised as digital natives in a fast paced ultra connected world authentic happiness still seems just out of reach While social media often shows well lit selfies and flawless digital personas today's 16 to 25 year olds are struggling to find real meaning connection and satisfaction right alongside their overburdened parents An Introduction to Happiness tackles the ever popular subject of happiness and well being but reframes it for a younger reader struggling with Instagram envy and high stakes testing college rejections and helicopter parents Professor of positive psychology Dr Tim Bono distills his most popular college course on the science of happiness into creative often counterintuitive strategies for young adults to lead happier more fulfilling lives Filled with exciting research practical exercises honest advice and quotes and stories from young adults themselves An Introduction to Happiness is a master class for a generation looking for science based real world ways to feel just a little bit happier every day

Handbook of Research in History, Philosophy and Science Teaching Michael R. Matthews, 2014-07-03 This inaugural handbook documents the distinctive research field that utilizes history and philosophy in investigation of theoretical curricular and pedagogical issues in the teaching of science and mathematics. It is contributed to by 130 researchers from 30 countries; it provides a logically structured, fully referenced guide to the ways in which science and mathematics education is informed by the history and philosophy of these disciplines as well as by the philosophy of education more generally. The first handbook to cover the field, it lays down a much needed marker of progress to date and provides a platform for informed and coherent future analysis and research of the subject. The publication comes at a time of heightened worldwide concern over the standard of science and mathematics education, attended by fierce debate over how best to reform curricula and enliven student engagement in the subjects. There is a growing recognition among educators and policy makers that the learning of science must dovetail with learning about science; this handbook is uniquely positioned as a locus for the discussion. The handbook features sections on pedagogical, theoretical, national and biographical research, setting the literature of each tradition in its historical context. It reminds readers at a crucial juncture that there has been a long and rich tradition of historical and philosophical engagements with science and mathematics teaching, and that lessons can be learnt from these engagements for the resolution of current theoretical, curricular and pedagogical questions that face teachers and administrators. Science educators will be grateful for this unique encyclopaedic handbook. Gerald Holton, Physics Department, Harvard University. This handbook gathers the fruits of over thirty years' research by a growing international and cosmopolitan community. Fabio Bevilacqua, Physics Department, University of Pavia. Behavioural Sports Economics Hannah Josepha Rachel Altman, Morris Altman, Benno Torgler, 2021-12-20 Economists have entered into the realm of sports to provide what they believe to be more cogent explanations for sport-related behaviour and to suggest ways in which incentives can improve sports outcomes. But prices and income, the traditional workhorses of conventional economics, can only provide partial explanations and understandings. Drawing on a bounded rationality approach to behavioural economics, this book demonstrates the analytical insights to be gained by supplementing the conventional economics toolbox with psychological, cognitive, sociological and institutional factors. The international cast list of contributors covers a wide range of sports topics on which a behavioural approach can reveal new insights. These include preferences, managerial efficiency, choking, doping, favouritism, athlete well-being and spectator behaviour. Throughout the book, there is an emphasis on the cognitive limits to smart decision making as well as the critical role played by the decision-making environment. This volume demonstrates that adopting a bounded rationality approach, complemented with other behavioural approaches, helps to better explain sport-related behavioural, sub-optimal behavioural and market failures. It also provides insights that could be used to improve sports outcomes and the well-being of those involved in sports and to better configure policy to enhance sports performance. This groundbreaking book will be an indispensable reference to students and scholars of sports.
