Carl Jackson is a motivated and diligent sophomore at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. He is currently a Mechanical Engineering major with a minor in Mathematics. He has a strong track record of excellence in both computational mathematics as well as the engineering field, having finished all of his high school-level math courses by the time he reached 6th grade. Afterwards, he took advanced and invariant calculus courses at his local community college. As the winner of the Stonebrood County Science and Engineering fair two years in a row from 2016-2017, he also has many plans for the future which involve combining sustainable energy with hands-free innovation.

Carl graduated from Roosevelt State High School in 2015 with a perfect 4.0 GPA. He served as president of the Debate Team and the Road Scholars from his sophomore to senior year in college. During his time in leadership, he helped to restructure the organizational system and balance the budget through careful accounting and recordkeeping. During his junior year, he also took a service trip to Guatemala, where he helped to rebuild houses and help construct temporary shelter for citizens affected by hurricanes. This experience helped to shape his interest in mechanical engineering in college.

Upon matriculating at the University of Michigan, Carl immediately started his involvement in community service and on-campus engagement. He worked as an election volunteer to encourage fellow students to vote, and also helped to organize on-campus debates to discuss pertinent issues to student life. Additionally, he is an active member of the Young Engineers club, utilizing his academic skills and experience to help mentor elementary and middle school students interested in the sciences. He look forward to using his experiences to obtain a career in industry where he can help further sustainability and efficiency in the workplace.

Biography and Education Michael Erben, 2005-08-12 Over recent years biographical studies have gained an increasingly important place in academic study The two are inextricably linked Education uses biography in teaching and in biography education features strongly as a formative stage in personal development This book elaborates on the analytical work that has drawn attention to biography and education and seeks to expand the understanding of lives in educational contexts Mainstream sociology has been quick to embrace this treatment of individuals as biographical appearances but it is even more relevant in the field of education Resources in Education ,1999 Bio-Psycho-Social Indicators of Suicide Risk Nicola Susan Gray, Robert Snowden, Xenia Gonda, Gianluca Serafini, 2022-11-03 Patterns of Life History Michael D. Mumford, Garnett S. Stokes, William A. Owens, Garnett Stokes, 2013-05-13 This work summarizes an ongoing longitudinal study concerned with the nature of human differences as manifest in peoples life histories The traditional models for the description of human differences are reviewed then contrasted with the presentation of alternative models This volume is also one of the few to investigate different approaches to measurement procedures Practical applications of these models and the results obtained in a 23 research effort are discussed Bio-Inspired Computing: Theories and Applications Linqiang Pan, Shangchen Pang, Tao Song, Faming Gong, 2021-03-31 This volume constitutes the revised selected papers of the 15th International Conference on Bio inspired Computing Theories and Applications BIC TA 2020 held in Qingdao China in October 2020 The 43 full papers presented in both volumes were selected from 109 submissions The papers are organized according to the topical headings evolutionary computation and swarm intelligence neural networks and machine learning DNA computing and membrane computing College Student Survey ,1971 Active Learning in College Science Joel J. Mintzes, Emily M. Walter, 2020-02-23 This book explores evidence based practice in college science teaching It is grounded in disciplinary education research by practicing scientists who have chosen to take Wieman s 2014 challenge seriously and to investigate claims about the efficacy of alternative strategies in college science teaching In editing this book we have chosen to showcase outstanding cases of exemplary practice supported by solid evidence and to include practitioners who offer models of teaching and learning that meet the high standards of the scientific disciplines Our intention is to let these distinguished scientists speak for themselves and to offer authentic guidance to those who seek models of excellence Our primary audience consists of the thousands of dedicated faculty and graduate students who teach undergraduate science at community and technical colleges 4 year liberal arts institutions comprehensive regional campuses and flagship research universities In keeping with Wieman s challenge our primary focus has been on identifying classroom practices that encourage and support meaningful learning and conceptual understanding in the natural sciences The content is structured as follows after an Introduction based on Constructivist Learning Theory Section I the practices we explore are Eliciting Ideas and Encouraging Reflection Section II Using Clickers to Engage Students Section III Supporting Peer Interaction through Small Group Activities Section IV Restructuring Curriculum and Instruction Section V Rethinking the Physical Environment Section VI Enhancing Understanding with Technology Section VII and Assessing Understanding Section VIII The book's final section IX is devoted to Professional Issues facing college and university faculty who choose to adopt active learning in their courses The common feature underlying all of the strategies described in this book is their emphasis on actively engaging students who seek to make sense of natural objects and events Many of the strategies we highlight emerge from a constructivist view of learning that has gained widespread acceptance in recent years In this view learners make sense of the world by forging connections between new ideas and those that are part of their existing knowledge base For most students that knowledge base is riddled with a host of naive notions misconceptions and alternative conceptions they have acquired throughout their lives To a considerable extent the job of the teacher is to coax out these ideas to help students understand how their ideas differ from the scientifically accepted view to assist as students restructure and reconcile their newly acquired knowledge and to provide opportunities for students to evaluate what they have learned and apply it in novel circumstances Clearly this prescription demands far more than most college and university scientists have been prepared for

College Life through the Eyes of Students Mary Grigsby, 2009-05-07 The struggles and achievements of today's college students are thrown into stark relief in this fascinating account of how such students make meaning of their lives Author Mary Grigsby uses the voices of students themselves to discuss how they view adjust to and participate in the college student culture of a large midwestern university and to explore what they think of their educational experiences Topics include a look at a typical day on campus student subcultures and the lifestyles they engender whether college life conforms to the images and scenarios of popular culture and student approaches to making it through college Going to college has become the major coming of age experience for many people in the United States and Mary Grigsby has provided a compelling readable and up to date account of this formative period Book jacket

Political Psychology of Turkish Political Behavior Cengiz Erisen, 2016-04-14 The primary motivation for this book is to focus on something crucial that is missing in Turkish political science well founded theories on the Turkish voter and empiricism in scholarly research Given the absence of such theories one could ask what then the best model is for explaining a Turkish citizen's vote choice and political behaviour and what schools of thought Turkish political science has Unfortunately it is not possible to offer a satisfactory response to either question at this point and among the clear deficiencies in the current literature the primary one is the lack of a robust model explaining how Turkish citizens form their political attitudes engage in political participation or cast their votes With these important questions in mind this book aims to generate an interest in the theoretical and methodological tools that one can employ to conduct research contributing to the needs of the literature particularly in political behaviour and political psychology This book expands our understanding about the processes and the mechanisms of Turkish political behaviour and contributes to the foundations of theory building in the literature This book was published as a special issue of Turkish Studies Body Image Across Health and Disease
