Past Paper Mpumalanga:

Policing and Boundaries in a Violent Society Guy Lamb, 2022-01-31 This book explores how social and territorial boundaries have influenced the approaches and practices of the South Africa Police Service SAPS. By means of a historical analysis of South Africa, this book introduces a new concept: police frontierism, which illuminates the nature of the relationships between the police, policing and boundaries, and can potentially be used for future case study research. Drawing on a wealth of research, this book examines how social and territorial boundaries strongly influenced police practices and behaviour in South Africa, and how social delineations amplify and distort existing police prejudices against those communities on the other side of the boundary. Focusing on cases of high density police operations, public order policing and the recent policing of the COVID 19 lockdown, this book argues that poor economic conditions combined with an increased militarisation of the SAPS and a decline in public trust in the police will result in boundaries continuing to fundamentally inform police work in South Africa. This book will be of interest to scholars and students interested in policing in post colonial societies characterised by high levels of violence, as well as police work and police militarization. Touch my Blood Fred Khumalo, 2011-12-02 As a teenager, Fred Khumalo greeted his friends with a handshake and the words "touch my blood". It implied friendship and trust. The saying became his name. More than that, it became the way he viewed his world. Everything touched Fred Khumalo. Twice he was bewitched. Twice his father, the moegoe, the country bumpkin, took him to inyanga to have the demons banished. Twice his mother, the city girl, took him to the doctor to have the fevers cured. When the American Dudes became the fashion, Khumalo dressed up in outlandish style and strutted the streets. You had to be brave to be seen in the outfits that we wore: Green, yellow, maroon, powder blue. Outrageous stuff, garish stuff, bright stuff. Earth, Wind and Fire stuff. Michael Jackson pre-nose job stuff. He smoked dagga with con men and criminals, he pickpocketed corpses on Friday night trains. He worked as a gardener in the larney suburbs and drooled over pornographic photographs with his baas's son. He studied journalism and shacked up with whiteys in a commune called Snake Park for a while, the only darkie in a crazy swirl of booze and drugs and sex. And then the bloody fightings that tore apart KwaZulu Natal in the 1980s touched his life. Sucked him into a place of horror and violence that threatened to destroy him. When a friend died in his arms with the words "They really got me, Touch My Blood", they really got me. Khumalo realised that if he was to outlive the madness, he had to run. From the journalist and Sunday Times columnist comes a startlingly honest, humorous and poignant autobiography about growing up in a time of laughter and heartache. Regional Sustainability - South Africa 2015 Students of the 2015 Field Study Program, 2015-06-21 This book is a compilation of the research essays and proposals written by students who participated in the Field Studies in Regional Sustainability Program in South Africa in January/February 2015. Each section focuses on a particular problem identified in the context of the Mpumalanga lowveld, and the contributions attempt to address these issues by linking policy frameworks with strategies and projects aimed at improving the sustainability of the region Archives of Times Past Cynthia Kros, Geoffrey Blundell, Jan Boeyens, Sekibakiba Peter Lekgoathi, Amanda Esterhuysen, Grant McNulty, Rachel King, Hlonipha Mokoena, Lize Kriel, Fred Morton, Muchaparara Musemwa, Ndokuyakhe Ndlovu, Sifiso Mxolisi Ndlovu, Himal Ramji, Justine Wintjes, 2022-02 Archives of Times Past explores particular sources of evidence on southern Africa's time before the colonial era. It gathers recent ideas about archives and archiving from scholars in southern Africa and elsewhere focusing on the question: How do we know or think we know what happened in the times before European colonialism? The essays by well-known historians, archaeologists and researchers engage these questions from a range of perspectives and in illuminating ways. Written from personal experience they capture how these experts encountered their archives of knowledge beyond the textbook. The essays are written at a time when public discussion about the history of southern Africa before the colonial era is taking place more openly than at any other time in the last hundred years. They will appeal to students, academics, educationists, teachers, archivists and heritage museum practitioners and the general public. Annual Report Mpumalanga (South Africa). Department of Education, 2011 A Scientific Bibliography of the Far Northern Drakensberg Rodney Moffett, 2023-04-14 This Scientific Bibliography of the Far Northern Drakensberg is a continuation by the AfriMontane Research Unit of the University of the Free State (ARU) to document published and other similar works on the mountains of the summer rainfall area of South Africa. It follows A Scientific Bibliography of the Drakensberg, Maloti and Adjacent Lowlands which was published in 2020 (Moffett 2020) and which covered the area between the North Eastern Cape and the North Eastern Free State. The current work extends this northward by including articles and publications dating back to 1875. E. Cohen on the Lydenburg goldfields reaching as far as the Wolkberg and Woodbush near Tzaneen in Limpopo Province. Figure 1 shows the boundary of the area covered and although referred to as the Far Northern Drakensberg in this work it is identical to that described as the LMEE Limpopo Mpumalanga-Eswatini Escarpment by Clarke et al (2022). Although slightly separate from the lower escarpment the mountainous Barberton and adjacent Eswatini area as well as the Leolo Mountains in eastern Sekhukhune Land are also included. Details on how the boundary in figure 1 was determined are given in Clark et al (2022). Bibliographies on two further ranges in the summer rainfall area, viz the Magaliesberg in Gauteng province and the Soutpansberg in Limpopo province, are to be the subject of future compilations. Verbatim Report of the Kwazulu Legislative Assembly Kwazulu (South Africa). This scholarly book explores the methodologies and ethics of oral history to address these omissions and to elevate oral testimonies as vital tools in historical scholarship. This book brings together ten chapters authored by leading academics and researchers. It critically examines how oral history methodologies can be contextualised within South Africa's diverse and multifaceted society. Rather than focusing on Eurocentric approaches, it emphasises the need to rethink the ethics and practices of oral history from an Afrocentric perspective. Through its transdisciplinary and interdisciplinary lens spanning history, indigenous knowledge studies, museum and archival studies, and folklore, this book advocates for the recognition of interviewees as knowledge holders, fostering meaningful exchanges rather than mere knowledge extraction. The authors emphasise the need to protect and expand oral history archives, ensuring the representation of marginalised voices and redressing past injustices. With original research, this volume sheds light on the transformative potential of oral history in South Africa, offering new arguments and perspectives. It aims to inspire scholars, researchers, and specialists to rethink conventional practices and to bridge the divide between written and oral histories. This is essential literature for scholars and practitioners in history, oral history, theology, museum studies, and related fields, as it reimagines the role of oral testimonies in producing inclusive and credible historical narratives.

No Last Place to Rest Dineo Skosana, 2025-02. Examines the impact of coal mining on the lives of rural communities in post-apartheid South Africa. No Last Place to Rest: Coal Mining and Dispossession in South Africa is an exploration of the ongoing struggles faced by families in the Mpumalanga and KwaZulu Natal provinces of South Africa, whose lives have been upended by the relentless expansion of coal mining operations. These regions, burdened with the task of fulfilling the nation's energy needs and boosting the country's economy, witness daily the harsh realities of dispossession that extend far beyond the mere loss of property. Dineo Skosana presents a compelling argument that dispossession remains a present-day reality and crisis, contradicting the notion that it is merely a relic of the past in the post-apartheid landscape. It challenges the narrow perspective that equates land loss in material and economic terms only. Skosana considers the impact of grave relocations, a common occurrence in these mining-dominated locales, and the profound spiritual anguish and dehumanisation communities endure as their lands are excavated. In African societies, connections to the land extend beyond the material; land has a sacred and ancestral value. Grave relocations disrupt this connection, families have with their ancestors. In dispossessing not only the living but also the dead from their lands, the author argues that the act wounds the collective soul of a people, eroding their cultural heritage and collective identity and belonging. This book offers a rich ethnographic account of the experiences, struggles, and resistance of the affected communities, as well as a critical analysis of the legal and policy frameworks that enable their exploitation. In relation to the land question in South Africa, No Last Place to Rest presents deep insights for communities, activists, and government sectors acting in support of social justice and redress.
