Jerome,2013-06-20 IN WHICH THE AUTHOR SEEKS TO CAST THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THIS STORY UPON ANOTHER At the corner of a long straight brick built street in the far East End of London one of those lifeless streets made of two drab walls upon which the level lines formed by the precisely even window sills and doorsteps stretch in weary perspective from end to end suggesting petrified diagrams proving dead problems stands a house that ever draws me to it so that often when least conscious of my footsteps I awake to find myself hurrying through noisy crowded thoroughfares where flaring naphtha lamps illumine fierce patient leaden coloured faces through dim lit empty streets where monstrous shadows come and go upon the close drawn blinds through narrow noisome streets where the gutters swarm with children and each ever open doorway vomits riot past reeking corners and across waste places till at last I reach the dreary goal of my memory driven desire and coming to a halt beside the broken railings find rest The house larger than its fellows built when the street was still a country lane edging the marshes strikes a strange note of individuality amid the surrounding harmony of hideousness It is encompassed on two sides by what was once a garden though now but a barren patch of stones and dust where clothes it is odd any one should have thought of washing hang in perpetuity while about the door continue the remnants of a porch which the stucco falling has left exposed in all its naked insincerity Paul Kelter Jerome J.K., Jerome Klapka Jerome was an English writer and humourist In the semi autobiographical novel Paul Kelter he describes a rocky road through life including his stints as an actor a few disastrous love affairs and a meeting with an influential stranger eventually leading to his decision to become a writer
