Sandf Recruiting Closing Dates For 2014:

The SADF and Cuito Cuanavale Leopold Scholtz, 2020-02-15 A shooting war is often followed by a second war This war is not fought with bullets or artillery shells not with tanks or bombers but rather with words The war is in effect fought again on paper In 1987 1988 the dusty Angolan town of Cuito Cuanavale was the backdrop for the final battles of the Border War Ever since the war ended the fighting around Cuito has been the subject of a fierce public debate over who actually won the war While the leadership of the former South African Defence Force SADF claims it was never defeated the supporters of the Angolan MPLA government Cuba and SWAPO insist that the SADF was vanquished on the battlefield They contend that the SADF wanted to overrun Cuito Cuanavale and use it as a springboard for an advance on Luanda But was Cuito Cuanavale ever really an objective of the SADF Leopold Scholtz tackles this question by examining recently declassified documents in the SANDF archives exploring the strategic and tactical decisions that shaped the six main battles from the SADF's stunning tactical success on the Lomba River to the grinding struggle for the Tumpo Triangle His incisive analysis untangles what happens when war politics and propaganda become entwined

Inside South Africa's Foreign Policy

John Siko, 2014-06-16 South Africa is still the major player in African diplomacy its military resources far outstripping those of other nations on the continent It also has traditionally taken the lead role in Africa's united negotiations with other power blocs Yet the recent consensus has been that South Africa's diplomacy over the last decades has been a disappointing failure from appearing to back the controversial Mugabe regime to accusations that it is failing to utilize its position to encourage Chinese investment John Siko has had insider access to the corridors of power in South Africa and with access to the major political players charts the inability of South Africa to develop a coherent policy over the last four decades In particular he reveals the tight grip Mbeki has over foreign policy to the detriment of SA's standing in the world and argues South Africa's isolationist style of policy making has not changed enough after Mandela's election in 1994

War of Intervention in Angola Adrien Fontanellaz, Tom Cooper, José Augusto Matos, 2021-06-23 War of Intervention in Angola Volume 4 continues the coverage of the operational history of the Angolan Air Force and Air Defense Force FAPA DAA as told by Angolan and Cuban sources in the period 1985-1988 Many accounts of this conflict better known in the West as the Border War or the Bush War as named by its South African participants consider the operations of the FAPA DAA barely worth commentary At most they mention a few air combats involving Mirage F 1 interceptors of the South African Air Force SAAF in 1987 and 1988 and perhaps a little about the activity of the FAPA DAA's

MiG 23s However a closer study of Angolan and Cuban sources reveals an entirely different image of the air war over Angola in the 1980s indeed it reveals the extent to which the flow of the entire war was dictated by the availability or the lack of air power These issues strongly influenced the planning and conduct of operations by the commanders of the Angolan and Cuban forces Based on extensive research with the help of Angolan and Cuban sources War of Intervention in Angola Volume 4 traces the Angolan and Cuban application of air power between 1985 1988 during which it came of age and the capabilities intentions and the combat operations of the air forces The volume is illustrated with 100 rarely seen photographs half a dozen maps and 15 color profiles and provides a unique source of reference on this subject

Ruling Nature, Controlling People Luregn Lenggenhager, 2018 Recent nature conservation initiatives in Southern Africa such as communal conservancies and peace parks are often embedded in narratives of economic development and ecological research They are also increasingly marked by militarisation and violence In Ruling Nature Controlling People Luregn Lenggenhager shows that these features were also characteristic of South African rule over the Caprivi Strip region in North Eastern Namibia especially in the fields of forestry fisheries and ultimately wildlife conservation In the process the increasingly internationalised war in the region from the late 1960s until Namibia's independence in 1990 became intricately interlinked with contemporary nature conservation ecology and economic development projects By retracing such interdependencies Lenggenhager provides a novel perspective from which to examine the history of a region which has until now barely entered the focus of historical research He thereby highlights the enduring relevance of the supposedly peripheral Caprivi and its military scientific and environmental histories for efforts to develop a deeper understanding of the ways in which apartheid South Africa exerted state power

The Politics of Race, Class and Nationalism in Twentieth Century South Africa S. Mark, Stanley Trapido, S. Marks, 2014-09-25 The standard of contribution is high the reader gets a good sense of the cutting edge of historical research African Affairs

People's War Anthea Jeffery, 2014-06-09 Twenty years have passed since South Africans were being shot or hacked or burned to death in political conflict and the memory of the trauma has faded Some 20 500 people were nevertheless killed between 1984 and 1994 The conventional wisdom is that they died at the hands of a state backed Third Force but the more accurate explanation is that they died as a result of the people's war the ANC unleashed As the people's war accelerated from September 1984 intimidation and political killings rapidly accelerated At the same time a remarkably effective propaganda campaign put the blame for violence on the National Party government and its alleged Inkatha surrogate Sympathy for the ANC soared while its rivals suffered crippling losses in credibility and support By 1993 the ANC was able to dominate the negotiating process as well as to control the undefeated South African police and army and bend them to its will By mid 1994 it had trounced its rivals and taken over government People s War shows the extraordinary success of this war in giving the ANC a virtual monopoly on power It also shows in part at least the great cost at which this was achieved Apart from the killings the terror and the destruction that marked the period from 1984 to 1994 the people s war set in motion forces that cannot easily be reversed For violence cannot be turned off like a tap as the ANC suggested and neither can anarchy easily be converted into order Anthea Jeffery holds law degrees from the University of the Witwatersrand and from Cambridge and a doctorate in human rights law from the University of London Her previous books include The Natal Story Sixteen years of conflict and The Truth about the Truth Commission Both books have been acclaimed for their meticulous and objective approach and for breaking new ground on important and contentious issues African Culture and Global Politics Toyin Falola, Danielle Sanchez, 2014-01-10 This volume attempts to insert itself within the larger discussion of Africa in the twenty first century especially within the realm of world politics Despite the underwhelming amount of attention given to Africa s role in international politics in popular news sources it is evident that Africa has a consistent record of participating in world politics one that pre dates colonization and continues today In continuance of this legacy of active participation in global political exchanges Africans today can be heard in dialogues that span the world and their roles are impossible to replace by other entities It is evident that a vastly different Africa exists than ones that bolster images of starvation corruption and compliance The essays in this volume center on Africa and Africans participating in international political discourses but with an emphasis on various forms of expression and philosophies as these factors heavily influence Africa s role as a participant in global politics The reader will find a variety of essays that permeate surface discussions of politics and political activism by inserting African culture rhetoric philosophies into the larger discussion of international politics and Africa s role in worldwide political social and economic debates Shadows in an African Twilight Kevin Thomas, 2014-01-29 An exciting autobiography about the life of a game ranger Special Force soldier and professional hunter in Southern Africa The book also ends with a discerning look into the work of contract Security Escort Teams in Iraq where the author spent two years

Indigenous Health Ethics: An Appeal To Human Rights Deborah Zion, Linda Briskman, Alireza Bagheri, 2021-04-06 This book examines the intersections of bioethics human rights and health equity It does so through the contextual lenses of nation states while presenting global themes on rights colonialism and bioethics The book is framed by the following propositions on indigenous health it is a human rights issue it is located within the politics of colonization and subjugated indigenous knowledges require restoring Nuclear Proliferation and the Psychology of Political Leadership Kelly O'Reilly, 2014-09-15 This book offers a novel approach to understanding the puzzle of nuclear proliferation by examining how leaders beliefs and perceptions about the international system influence states decisions to acquire nuclear weapons Today there is a persisting dilemma over the spread of nuclear weapons for both practitioners and scholars of international affairs Uncertainty remains whether determined proliferators can be stopped as shown by the cases of North Korea and Iran These instances of proliferation raise questions about regional stability the use of pre emptive military action and the potential for reactive proliferation by neighbouring countries Despite the serious implications surrounding the spread of these weapons proliferation scholarship has thus far failed to solve what has been described as the proliferation puzzle why do some countries choose nuclear weapons while others do not The author argues that understanding basic psychological motivations such as the role of power and perceptions of self and others forms a strategic context which provides answers about a leader s willingness to proliferate Proliferation willingness is a critical yet frequently overlooked part of the proliferation equation Ultimately it is the combination of willingness and proliferation opportunity i e technical and scientific capabilities that determines whether a country goes nuclear By examining several historical instances of proliferation decision making in South Africa India Libya and Australia the book s findings highlight the fundamental role of leaders beliefs in shaping proliferation outcomes This book will be of much interest to students of nuclear proliferation political psychology security studies and IR in general

The Myth of the Poor Man's Atomic Bomb and the Politics of Proliferation Biejan Poor Toulabi,2021-04-07 Preventing the spread of weapons of mass destruction has been an important policy priority in the past decades This dissertation questions the prevailing view that chemical and biological weapons CBWs are a poor man s atomic bomb that are particularly attractive to developing countries that cannot acquire nuclear weapons The study shows that vague unverifiable and inflated threat assessments from US government sources have played an important role in sustaining this myth A unique dataset of CBW development programs in the period 1946 2010 demonstrates that significantly fewer countries have had CBW programs than often thought and that especially Third World countries have been incorrectly accused of pursuing or possessing CBWs
