Kumar, Werner Reinartz, 2012-04-30 Customer relationship management CRM as a strategy and as a technology has gone through an amazing evolutionary journey The initial technological approach was followed by many disappointing initiatives only to see the maturing of the underlying concepts and applications in recent years Today CRM represents a strategy a set of tactics and a technology that have become indispensable in the modern economy This book presents an extensive treatment of the strategic and tactical aspects of customer relationship management as we know it today It stresses developing an understanding of economic customer value as the guiding concept for marketing decisions The goal of the book is to serve as a comprehensive and up to date learning companion for advanced undergraduate students master s degree students and executives who want a detailed and conceptually sound insight into the field of CRM The Economist ,2002 Credit Searches Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Treasury Committee, 2009 The report by the Treasury Committee calls on the Office of Fair Trading and the Information Commissioner s Office to investigate the fairness of a part of the credit market The Report follows an inquiry sparked by concerns that in shopping around for credit especially for unsecured credit such as personal loans and credit cards consumers were building up a record of credit application searches on their credit reference files and that high numbers of recorded applications in fact made it harder for them to obtain credit or affected the rates charged The Committee's inquiry considered a range of evidence including from members of the public who responded to a call put through web site moneysavingexpert.com to provide examples of their experiences and difficulties obtaining credit credit search companies themselves the OFT ICO and others The Report concludes that there is a fine balance of public interest between ensuring that fraud is prevented and consumers are protected from reckless lending and ensuring that the market is subject to the disciplines of informed consumer choice Loan providers have over 400 indicators that they may use to assess suitability the Committee did not get compelling evidence that application search data is essential Nor was it presented with overwhelming evidence that making multiple application searches is a major source of direct consumer detriment although the number of consumers doing this seems likely to rise However the Committee was extremely concerned about the effect of the use of credit searches on market mechanisms since in principle the ability to shop around is not only an important means for consumers to assess the market but also provides a key discipline on providers During the course of the inquiry the Committee heard about some solutions which could reduce the adverse effects of the use of credit application search data in credit reference files it considers that any acceptable solution must strike an appropriate balance between minimising fraud and over borrowing and ensuring the market is subject to normal market disciplines It recommends that the OFT look at this Moody's
